GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — The disagreement between management and labor about the composition of an "industry committee" for automobiles seems to show either that OPM does not understand the industry committees used so successfully in 1918 or does not approve of them. It has been advised to set them up for over a year. This is the first real attempt and it is wrong.

Gen. Johnson.

Led by Phil Murray of the CIO, labor wants to have equal membership with industry on these committees or equal membership with industry and government. This point could probably be composed if this were all. But it isn't all.

Labor wants these committees to have administrative as well as advisory authority. In short that means that these committees are to run these industries very much as a board of directors runs a corporation.

Now that wasn't the method used in World War One at all. Then these committees, composed of leading men in such industries, met to hear government's demands. Then they sat in conference to consider how these demands could be met and where and when and by whom. After a decision had been made, it was their job to follow up through such industries to see that performance was acceptable and on schedule.

Without some such organization of the supply end of our great production problem, there is no possibility of successfully mobilizing our great industrial organism in all its parts to make it function as one single machine.

This system was used with excellent results throughout our whole industrial pattern, but never, in any circumstances, did government give up its right and duty of control regardless of the recommendation of any committee or the recalcitrance of any member of any industry.

It can't do so now. If an industry is run by mixed committees of equal membership or antagonistic elements, most votes will be tied and the chairman will have the final decision anyway. All the intervening debate and argument will be simply lost time and injured feelings.

If in the alternative the committee is formed of three laborites, three industrialists and three government representatives, we must remember that ours has many of the aspects of a labor government now. If such a "majority" is to "administer" and not merely "advise" and assist in lining up industry it will be a long step toward turning most of industry over to the management and control of labor.

That was tried in Italy and Russia with disastrous results. The old time labor leaders such as Sam Gompers wouldn't even listen to the argument. "If labor is responsible for management," said they, in effect, "it will be responsible for profits and dividends and an engineering efficiency for which it is not fitted. The job of unionism is to insure fair wages, hours and working conditions."

If this plan, or any plan to take ultimate control of war production away from government, or immediate responsibility for results away from management, is adopted, we shall have taken a very long step toward Communism, or Nazism, or both.

I see no reason why labor should not have a voice in any recommendation by an industry to its government, dissenting from, or concurring in advice of management or making wholly independent suggestions of its own.

But it seems to me that there are a multitude of reasons why the well-established functions of government, management and labor should not be disturbed by some untried and wholly unnecessary experiment.

Describes Typhus Spread In War Area

ASKS AID FOR DEALERS HIT BY CAR SALE BAN

Spokesman Tells Senate Group Half Million Being Forced Into Bankruptcy.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The 44,000 automobile dealers in the United States and their half-million employes are being swept, "virtually without notice or consideration," into bankruptcy under the government's ban on the sale of new cars, a spokesman for them charged today.

L. Clare Cargile, president of the National Automobile Dealers' association, in a statement prepared for delivery before the senate small business committee, said dealers were being neglected while enormous contracts were being awarded to the second unit of the automotive industry—the manufacturers.

"The automobile dealers of America are typical small business men," Cargile said. "They are located in every city and town of this country.

"Even since the bombing of Pearl Harbor, they too have known that this country now stands united as never before, and they have upon every occasion pledged their support to the prosecution of this war to a glorious victory and they shall continue to do so regardless of the hearing that is accorded this plea."

Cargile told the senate committee that the dealers "submit that the cost of this war should be so far as possible spread over all the people, and that it is unfair for this single business group to bear so large a part of the burden."

His plan for aiding dealers and their employes was to:

Permit the delivery of all bonafide orders dated prior to Jan. 1, 1942.

Handle all automobiles and trucks produced, except those designed specifically for military service, through dealers.

Pay the full list price for all cars requisitioned or purchased by the government.

Pay the dealers for the cost of financing, insurance and storage on all cars and trucks carried by dealers after Jan. 1, 1942, until liquidated or released.

Up and Down THE STREET

This might be entitled "The Mystery of West Third street: Or—John Graf figures he owes somebody at least 15 cents." Graf got up extra early the other morning before going to an early church service with the intention of shoveling the snow off the sidewalk in front of his West Third street residence. Muffled to the ears against the cold, he went out the back door, got a shovel and came around the house. But his walks were already cleaned! Neither he nor his wife had hired anyone to do it, they hadn't heard any shoveling going on earlier, and there wasn't any shoveling equipment accessible to a stranger. Graf's neighbors' walks hadn't been touched. He can't figure it out.

The Mansfield boys in the Battery D unit of the 134th F. A. at Camp Shelby, Miss., have asked The News-Journal to express their thanks to the Richland countains who sent them Christmas gifts and Co. F. of the Ohio State Guard for sponsoring a New Year eve party at the camp. "The party went over with great success and hilarity," R. A. Schlegel, regimental reporter, said. "The boys of Battery D appreciates the efforts of the home town folks in their thoughtfulness. It is always good to know that those back home still remember. May we extend to the city of Mansfield our best wishes for a prosperous nad victorious New Year."

If you think it's cold in Mansfield, a letter Mrs. Donald Howe, former Mansfielder, now of Ames, Ia., wrote to relatives here may help some. The mercury dropped to 25 below zero in Ames this week, she said, and a number of automobiles that were snowed under in a blizzard that brought two feet of snow a week ago are still under the snow. Some of the owners are wondering if they will have to wait until spring to get them running again.

CHARGES NAZIS ABANDON THEIR STRICKEN MEN

British Doctor Says Disease May Be Europe's Greatest Problem After War.

(Editor's Note: Leslie Haden Guest, famous British physician and author, former member of parliament and one-time parliamentary private secretary to the minister of health, tells a graphic story today of the ravages of the typhus epidemic raging in war-torn Europe. And he predicts the dread disease may become Europe's greatest problem after the war is over.)

By JAMES E. BROWN
(INS Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright 1942)

LONDON —(INS)— Nazi forces retreating before the Russian lash are abandoning their typhus stricken troops to whatever grim fate may be in store for them, Dr. Leslie Haden Guest, noted British author and doctor, charged today.

One reason for this, he declared in an exclusive interview with International News Service, is an attempt to infect civilians with the dreaded scourge and through them pass it on to the onrushing Soviet troops.

Dr. Haden Guest told a grim story of what is happening in the disease-ridden sections of Europe and painted an even grimmer word picture of the effects of typhus on the Nazi troops.

"The German high command with typical Teutonic ruthlessness is abandoning its typhus-stricken troops during the retreat to the west," he said.

"The move is two-fold. First, the Germans are abandoning these troops because they are not worth transport space in their hurried retreat to the rear.

"Second, they hope these troops will infect civilians and thus pass on the disease to the advancing Russian troops.

"Typhus is peculiarly a disease which spreads in winter time, when troops are huddled up to create warmth. It can be cured only by diligent nursing.

"The advancing Russian troops also are vulnerable to the disease, but with their superior nursing organization they are more capable of providing ameliorizing treatment.

"According to the best information, the German army was not equipped to deal with a typhus epidemic. Obviously their schedule did not include an extensive winter campaign.

"The typhus epidemic among Nazi troops ought to be regarded as a warning of what we will have to contend with when the war is concluded. There is bound to be lack of fuel and food in the territories overrun by the German army.

"In such circumstances civilians crowd together for warmth and comfort, bathing facilities are impossible, lice abound and a serious epidemic is likely. It probably will exact a death toll far in excess of the deaths caused in battle.

"Therefore all non-Axis medical men should rally around the members of the Rockefeller Institute, and organize baths and cleansing and nursing clinics on a vast scale to cope with the greatest problem to be faced after the war."

HUNT PILOT IN BOMBER CRASH

Seek Airman Missing After 7 In Crew Parachute Safely To Earth.

(By International News Service)

HANNA, Wyo.—The blackened hulk of an army bomber lay in a desolate section south of Hanna today as a posse of coal miners and sheriff's officers spread out over rugged southern Wyoming hills in search for one airman still missing after parachuting from the stricken plane with seven other members of the crew.

The huge ship crashed seven miles south of this tiny mining community last night during a heavy snowstorm. Seven of the airmen aboard were known to have floated to earth safely beneath their white silk canopies.

The other crew member, who also bailed out of the bomber as it wallowed in the blizzard, apparently was blown far from the scene of the crash, Sheriff Glenn C. Penland said. The officer, aided by deputies and highway patrolmen, led the group of miners combing the region for the missing airman.

Two of the aviators were hospitalized at Hanna, but were reported to be not in serious condition. Others brought to the hospital within an hour after the crash were said to be suffering only from minor hurts.

The names of the crew members were withheld at the request of army authorities.

ARMY COMMANDER SAYS HAWAII ON WAY TO SELF-SUFFICIENCY

(By Associated Press)

HONOLULU — Hawaii, vital American outpost in the troubled Pacific, may be on the way to near self-sufficiency.

A program to expand the agricultural output of the islands is in progress, and equipment is on hand to convert sugar—principal product of the islands—into motor fuel for the territory's war machine.

For the time being, the islands are well fixed for food.

This was disclosed by Lieut. General Delos C. Emmons, new commander of the army's Hawaiian department, in an interview which gave an encouraging picture of the usually-placid islands which were ripped by Japan's sneak opening attack of the Pacific war on Dec. 7.

A new enemy assault "may happen at any time," he pointed out. "But we will not be surprised again—and we will hold the islands."

"We are prepared to meet an attack at any time," he said, "and we are not waiting until the Singapore situation is disposed of one way or another. Emphatically we are stronger now than Dec. 7.

"The islands are the key to this side of the Pacific and losing them would be a serious matter. This is where we will start our offensive. We are working on that idea now. We will not lose Hawaii."

General Emmons said the Japanese "undoubtedly want to attempt another surprise and might make an assault in force. We are ready to meet them and a lot of our men and officers would welcome it. We are pretty sore and ready to go to town."

ILLNESS FATAL

Youth Boasts He Can Scale Cliff, Falls to Death

NIAGARA FALLS — (INS) — A 175-foot plunge down the slippery cliff of the Niagara river gorge had brought death today to John Maher, 21, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Maher, John Meyer, 22, James Duffy, 19, all students at Duquesne university, and Tom Regan, 20, an electrical worker, all of Pittsburgh, were en route to Canada to enlist in the air corps.

As they hiked along the river road, Maher boasted he could scale the cliff. He descended to the river level in safety and had nearly made good his boast but slipped and fell to a narrow ledge near the river.

Meyer and Regan descended the cliff and held Maher on the ledge until help, summoned by Duffy, arrived. Maher was pulled to the top of the gorge in an improvised sling and all were taken to General hospital where Maher died.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway In Wartime.

(The First Month)

Well, we have had a month of war now—we of Broadway along with the rest of the nation; and here in the entertainment zone the reaction has settled and is probably best described by what Sophie Tucker said three days after Dec. 7.

Standing on the sidewalk outside of Sardi's in the center of a group of war-worried and jittery actors—big Sophie waved her purse at the theater marquees along the street and said:

"They won't come down. The lights will stay lit, I know—I was through the last war. We came through that all right. We'll come through this."

When Sophie said "we came through," she meant "we won." When she told them, "We'll come through this," she meant, "We'll win again."

And that is the way Broadway feels after a month of war. We'll win again.

The lights will stay lit.

Checking the pulse of Broadway today, you find it strong but irregular in beat. There is a certain amount of box-office confusion, but no sign of panic. Last week a half-dozen legitimate shows closed down and several more are due to follow suit—but the movie houses are packing them in.

The local night club entrepreneurs are scratching their worried heads, trying to determine the trend. They hope that New York will act the way London did—snap out of the night club slump a month after the first bombs fell. Cafe business has ranged from spotty to bad, and those formerly lavish-spending Europeans who aren't interned evidently are staying in nights. In their place you see more and more uniformed males on the dance floors.

Song writers flood the publishers with new war tunes and the old ones come back. Familiar faces disappear, then reappear in khaki or navy blue. The American Theater Wing sponsors first aid training for actors and actresses, and patriotic programs star on the air lanes. Theatrical celebrities patrol as air raid wardens in the hours after midnight. And—great symbol always of war time energy—girls are knitting, knitting, knitting.

* * *

Anti-aircraft guns dot the parks, and there are air raid sirens in Times Square. Signs urging you to buy defense savings bonds and stamps are stuck everywhere—backstage in the chorines' dressing rooms, in the foyers of the night clubs, in the subways.

Military numbers invade the floor shows of Leon and Eddie's, Versailles, Gaucho and the Hurricane. Old war songs are sung and old recruiting posters are hung at Billy's Gay Nineties. Carmen Cavallaro composes a song called "Anything for You, Uncle Sam," and the Andrews Sisters give out with, "You're a Sap, Mr. Jap!"

Una Merkel carries a tiny flashlight in her pocketbook and Chick Yorke, of the "High Kickers" cast, is distributing diamond-shaped buttons, imbedded with a pearl and bearing the legend: "Remember Pearl Harbor." A new lipstick is called "Victory Red." And even those night club habitues generally thought to be anemic are volunteering blood donations to the Red Cross.

Mansfielder Picks Roses, Poinsettias; Finds It a Hot Job

Escaping from sub-zero weather, Harry V. (Lumbermens) Henness, writes from Los Angeles, Calif., that he has been picking roses and poinsettias while perspiring profusely. . .

"Everywhere are army and navy uniforms and many army trucks on the streets; most business houses have blackout curtains; many coast roads closed; cannot drive near shipyards or some plane factories; golf course next to Douglass plant dotted with planes being tuned up and painted; men on watch towers in radio touch with patrol planes which were mostly out of sight.

"The people are calm, with business as usual, but no gathering of more than 5,000 allowed. The sun is shining, grass and bushes green and flowers blooming, but I'll soon be back in the Ohio winter."

Henness lives at 142 Stewart avenue.

Officers who assumed their duties for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Jenkins; vice president, Mrs. J. C. Stout; recording secretary, Mrs. D. E. Patterson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Grant Ward; treasurer, Mrs. James; secretary of Christian social relations and local church activities, Mrs. Birch; secretary of missionary education and service, Mrs. J. E. Smith; secretary of literature and publications, Mrs. R. K. Clark; secretary of student work, Miss Stella Reed; secretary of supplies, Mrs. J. J. Dunn; secretary of children's work, Mrs. H. D. Bishop; superintendent of young people's work, Miss Maude Cunningham.

A short business session was held in the afternoon also. It was decided to postpone the meeting scheduled for Feb. 5, until Feb. 12, because the Men's Brotherhood meeting is scheduled for the former date. The society voted to hold its future meetings at 12 o'clock, noon, starting with luncheon and with the program being called at 1 p. m. Circle meeting and business session will follow. One new member, Mrs. A. J. Hill, and a guest, Mrs. Frank Daniels, were introduced.

The famous book, "The Snoog Sisters," was reviewed by Mrs. Arthur Staples, of Shelby. Members found the review very interesting, especially because of current events in China. Mrs. Staples told that each of the three sisters had married outstanding men in China. The youngest became the wife of General Chiang Kai Shek and is a central figure in the nation today. She helps in many phases of war work. The second sister is the wife of H. H. Kung and is said to be the wealthiest woman in the world. Marriage of the third sister was to Sun Yat Sen.

At the close of the program, Mrs. Bishop sang "It was For Me," by Blount. Closing prayer was offered by Mrs. R. L. Foulke.

Spinster Dinner to Be Given for Martha King

Spinster dinner to be given this evening by the Misses Katherine and Martha Hartman at their home, 561 Park avenue west, will conclude a series of pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Martha King, 117 West Second street, who will become the bride of Tom Mowry, of Cleveland, in a ceremony at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Miss King and Miss Kathleen Sturges, who will wed Morris Alva Bradley, of Cleveland, on Jan. 17, were entertained with a luncheon recently by Miss Barbara Hartman. The two brides-elect and the prospective bridegrooms were feted with a cocktail party at "Raemelton House" by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Black.

Mrs. Otis Cummins and Mrs. Fred Hout gave a breakfast. On Wednesday of this week the Misses King and Sturges were given a luncheon at the Women's club by Miss Dorothy Herring. An out-of-town guest at the spinster dinner will be Miss Ann Mowry, of Washington, Pa., sister of the bridegroom.

School Nurse Gives Talk for Mothers' Club

Mothers' club of the West Fifth street school met at the school building Thursday afternoon with 40 members in attendance. Mrs. Lloyd Stuck, president, had charge of the business session. W. W. Blauser, principal, gave a short talk and introduced Miss Mabel Husted, city schools' nurse, who told of her work. Miss Betty Morrison's room won the attendance prize.

Contest awards were given to Mrs. Dan Snider, Mrs. W. B. Smith, Mrs. Homer McCurdy, Mrs. W. B. McLean, Mrs. Lee Lamberton and Mrs. A. B. Hamman. Two new members, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Rose Fowler, were welcomed. During the social hour a three-tiered wedding cake was presented to Mrs. Merrill W. Manz, jr., teacher, who was married recently. She is the former Miss Margaret Black. A gift from the club also was presented to Mrs. Manz.

Members of the refreshment committee were Mrs. Gordon Drury, Mrs. A. E. Burton, Mrs. Stuck and Mrs. Thomas Hempfield. Mrs. Kathryne Bancroft presided at the table. The program was in charge of Mrs. Ross Miller, Miss Beatrice Colvin, and Mrs. R. B. Schoenman. Date of next meeting is Feb 13.

'GENESEE FEVER' PLACED ON CITY LIBRARY LISTS

New Book By Carmer Tells of Up-State New York at End of Revolution.

Carl Carmer chooses the vast, grassy tract of up-state New York, once known as the Genesee Country, for the scene of his new novel, "Genessee Fever," now on display at the Mansfield Public library.

The action begins 10 years after at the end of the Revolution and the principal figure in the novel is Nathan Hart, a a schoolmaster turned itinerant portrait painter, and in spite of his seriousness exceedingly attractive to women.

Carmer's story is that of one plain American's effort to define himself and his ideals despite opposition.

Halifax in 1917 forms the background of Hugh MacLennan's BAROMETER RISING. It was then that the French freighter, "Mont Blanc," loaded with picric acid and TNT, was rammed by the Belgian relief ship, "Imo"; and the explosion all but destroyed Halifax. Against the background of this historic drama is told the love story of Penelope Wain, daughter of an old Nova Scotia family, and of Neil Macrae, who fought gallantly in France but who returned under unjust suspicion.

THE LONG WEEK-END by Harlow Estes, author of "Hildreth," is a penetrating story centered about Livy—twenty-eight and in love—who is spending the week-end at the home of the man she is going to marry. There she meets the rest of the family—and she soon finds out that although she has been free to choose her husband, she has no such choice about the relatives she is to acquire. A well-written, absorbing and lively story of the foibles of family life.

Other fiction: DEATH AND THE DANCING FOOTMAN by March; NOT JUST TO REMEMBER by Colver; A LADY GOES TO HOLLYWOOD by Partridge.

CHRISTY BORTH IN TRUE STEEL, a biography of George M. Verity, the founder and guiding genius of the American Rolling Mills company, reveals the phenomenal growth of the American steel business and the story behind its technological research. By pioneering in a liberal labor policy, "Armco" has avoided labor troubles, contributed to a model community life at Middletown, O., and built a sound business despite geographical handicaps.

ENGLISH DOMESTIC METAL WORK by R. Goodwin Smith is an unique introduction to English Metal-craft extending from earliest times up to the creations of living artist-craftsmen. By means of numerous sketches and photographs the author manages to communicate to us some of the magic and charm that lies in these masterpieces wrought by the hands of master metal-workers.

IN THE MILL by John Masefield is another chapter from the youth of England's Poet Laureate. In this he tells of two years spent in a carpet mill in Yonkers, New York, during which he had his first real opportunity to savor the pleasures of reading. It is a nostalgic book—the memories of a brief but significant period.

YOUR PERSONALITY by Mrs. Virginia Case is a study of personality differences in the extrovert and introvert, based on Jung's theory of psychological types. It describes the reactions of both types to everyday life, friendships, and marriages.

Other non-fiction: MODERN ACCOUNTING SYSTEMS by Gordon and Lockwood. AUDITS AND EXAMINATIONS by Oehler, THIS IS ENGLAND TODAY by Nevins, TECHNIQUES OF RECORDING by Goldsmith and Geisel, NEW STANDARD DICTATION COURSE; HONOR AMONG COOKS by Spahr; BEATEN METALWORK by Horth DESIGN OF MANUFACTURING ENTERPRISES by Rautenstrauch, ECONOMICS by Benham and Lutz, PHOTOGRAPHER'S RULE BOOK by June

OPPOSE READING

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — Children should not learn to read until they attain the age of 6½ or 7 years to avoid excess eye strain, in the opinion of Dr. Helen A. Field, professor of education at the University of Pennsylvania. She believes actual reading "should be preceded by a great deal of experience with oral language."

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

CLASSES OPEN

Red Cross Ready To Accept Home Nursing Applicants.

Registration for home nursing classes to be conducted weekly for 15 weeks by a Red Cross nurse instructor are now being received by Richland county chapter of the Red Cross

Plans are now being made for the organization of two classes according to Mrs. J. B. Simons, county Red Cross home nursing chairman, and the course will start as soon as an instructor is obtained.

This class will be conducted the same as all home nursing classes and is not to be confused with first aid or Nurses' aid classes, Mrs Simons said Its purpose is to instruct women in home care of the sick and injured and does not enable them to serve in hospitals.

Enrollment is limited to 20 and arrangements for the class may be made by contacting the Red Cross executive offices

Parents Hope Girl Will Return

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

In the week between Christmas and New Year's, 1939, our daughter left home. She had been anxiously watching for a letter from the man she expected to marry. When nothing came, she slipped away from home without a word. If she had only confided in us, we would have stood by her, spent our last penny on her, protected her in every way, for she was the only thing we had.

We've mortgaged our farm in trying to trace her without result. The neighbors all assume why she left, but they have never been offensive or prying. Several weeks ago, our postmaster told me that he saw her. She was in a car, drove past our house at dusk one evening. The postmaster supposed she was coming in or he would have followed her car.

Now, Miss Fairfax, I suppose you may think I'm foolish and romantic, but I read the other day the story of a girl who left home and her parents kept a light burning in her window for years. At last she came back. My husband thinks this is silly, but I feel like doing this. Do you think it would spread the gossip any further, and would it make it harder for her to return if she should make up her mind to do so? Please let me have a word from you.

UNHAPPY MOTHER.

Putting a light in a window in the hope of a wanderer's return is centuries old. It's a beautiful idea. As your neighbors know that the girl has gone, I should not worry about spreading that fact any further. Perhaps if there had been a light in the window when she was seen, it might have made her realize the loving welcome awaiting her.

Now about the practical side—have you communicated with the Bureau of Missing Persons? Have you thought of putting an advertisement in the nearest large city paper, using only the girl's initials? Have you thought of writing to the Florence Crittenten home? While there's life there's hope, and your daughter has actually been seen by a responsible person.

I have a feeling this may have a happy ending

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I've been going to see a girl very often, and every time I go I leave a calling card for her and her mother because I thought that was the right thing to do. Is this necessary?

DAVID.

It's not necessary to leave cards every time you call on your girl friend.

Set Example For Child In Manners

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

Not all children of good homes have a happy dinner hour. Some have parents who won't let them, parents who continually annoy them.

Manners! This evening many thousand lectures may be delivered, with great earnestness and heart, by parents to their children at the dinner table. Most are given piece-meal, and so distributed as to spread over the whole dinner hour.

"Not so fast, Joe. Not so much noise with your soup."

"Sit up, Sally: if you slouch down like that you'will be an ugly thing with round shoulders when you grow up." "Sam, Sam! Keep your lips closed when you chew." "Don't hold your fork that way, Sally." "Joe, what'd I tell you about eating fast?" "Not such big bites, Joe." "Sit up, Sam. Your hands are dirty. You know better than to come to the table with such hands. I wonder when you will ever get cleaned up." "Joe, Joe, your elbows! How often have I told you never to put your elbows on the table?"

All the while the mother may be making nervous movements with her head and hands and mouth eating rapidly, no doubt, even talking, with her mouth half full of food. She may be the most unmannerly person at the table, if we think of manners as a means of making those about us comfortable.

Upsetting for All.

It may be father who is the annoyer. Sometimes he and mother work in relays, and if there is an aunt or grandmother in the family she comes to the relief of the weary parents.

To most parents a movietone of the home dinner hour would be most surprising and instructive.

Naturally, parents wish their children to acquire good table manners. Then they should stop such barbarous practices as have been described. Let them acquire very precise table manners and make themselves so likable and the dinner atmosphere so comfortable that children will inevitably choose to imitate them.

If a child has developed an unattractive habit, explain to him before the next dinner hour what the offense is, and that when it is repeated he will immediately exclude himself from the family group to finish the meal elsewhere. Then keep your word. If he must be sent away, do it with a quiet word or gesture.

From this day on make it a habit of reciting at the dinner table the funny incidents in your day's experiences, and make the dinner hour a time to be looked forward to with eagerness by the entire family.

HIS AND HER LINENS PATTERN 214

Smart, aren't they! A colorful "His" and "Hers," "Mr. and "Mrs" monogram in easy stitches, of course, gives individuality to your towels and pillow slips. Pattern 214 contains a transfer pattern of 12 motifs averaging 4x7 inches; materials required; illustration of stitches.

Send 10 cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft Department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

"Simple but Subtle" could be the title of Marian Martin's new afternoon frock for the young in figure and the young in heart! You'll like the new lowered waistline on Pattern 9985 and the way it makes you tall and willowy. The side bodice sections are gathered gently into the pointed center panel with its pert little revers; the bodice panel and the skirt may be made of contrast fabric for a harmonious two-toned effect . . . Navy-blue with aqua is smart. For a winter-into-spring version in sheer crepe, three-quarter sleeves are appropriate, but they may be made short or long instead. You'll find this mode easy to make and quickly finished with the Sew Chart to guide you step by step.

Pattern 9985 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards 39 inch.

Send 15 cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern Department, 232 West 18th street, New York, N. Y.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary stared at me as I finished my question, with astonishment and anger in her eyes. But I had punctured her hysteria, I saw with relief, and I waited quietly for her next move.

"That isn't fair!" she said hotly. "You make me look like a heel."

"I'm sorry," I said, making my voice and words meticulously formal. "I had no such intention."

"But it's what you think," she said childishly.

I looked at her with eyes intent and purposely appraising. I knew that on the next few minutes depended the success or failure of my father's plan to get more information from Stephen Redfield, which might mean Marion's ultimate rescue, but which most certainly would be of use to the "Chief" in his never-ending battle against the termites in the nation's structure, who are eating away at the foundations of our liberties.

Distasteful Task.

The task before me—that of bringing Mary back to her promise that she would go on with her pretended flirtation with Redfield and find out everything she could about him—was a most distasteful one to me.

Sympathy for both Mary and her harassed young husband was so strong within me that, if it had not been for the stake of Marion's life and liberty, I think I should have agreed with Noel that there were plenty of government operatives who could find out about Stephen Redfield's sins against the government.

But the vision of Marion, trapped and terrified yet gallantly seizing every chance of communicating with Mary, her only hope because of their old childish code, steeled my resolution. I had just succeeded in obtaining Noel's grudging consent to the project outlined by my father. I could not permit Mary's emotion, no matter how natural and justified, to nullify that work and my father's plan.

Must Inform Spencer.

"No," I said judicially at last. "I do not think you are a 'heel' as you put it. I am simply wondering how I am going to explain things to my father. He asked me to gain Noel's consent to his plan, as a requisite for your consent. It was a most trying task, but I accomplished it, causing Noel much suffering, which I now find to be useless.

"The only complaint I have to make is that you did not make up your mind before I went to see Noel. Frankly, I do not feel equal to the task of facing my father with this news. I think I would better telephone him and ask him to come over here, then quietly fade out of the picture and leave you to explain to him."

I had made my voice monotonous and devoid of all emotion. I was conscious, as I talked, that Mary was watching me, but purposely I had turned my own eyes away from her, so did not know how she was reacting to my suggestion: rather, my threat.

Astounded by Mary.

I did not have to wait long for her answer, and when it came it fairly astounded me, as her moods and tenses generally do, although I have conjugated them since her childhood.

Chagrined tears because of her vacillation, frightened pleading to keep my father away from her, these I subconsciously expected. But when I heard her give an amused if somewhat metallic laugh, and saw her looking at me with twinkling, comprehending eyes set incongruously in her face still ravaged with emotion, I felt like slumping against the back of my chair in sheer bewilderment.

"My best chapeau is tipped to you, Madame Machiavelli," she said, but I heard the note of pain underneath the mockery and realized that her flippancy was simply her way of saving face.

"How you managed Noel I haven't the slightest idea," she went on, "but if you gave him the works allee samee you handed them to me just now, I don't wonder he rolled over and played dead.

Again Madge Wins.

"You know you're wasting a lot of potential earning power," she went on. "You ought to be a psychiatrist on Park avenue. You'd simply coin dough.

"You put your finger unerringly on the weakest spot," she went on. "You knew better than to appeal to my emotions or my concern for Marion. You simply let me see how I was letting everybody down by indulging in an orgy of conscience, then frosted the cake with a bit of blackmail.

"You know I'd rather face old Beelzebub any day than the Chief. Well, darling, you win, as usual. I'll put on my niftiest togs and evolve some pretext of getting little Stevie over here."

LEGION MOTHERS.

Mrs. Martha Gardner entertained the Legion Mothers' club with a dinner at the Gardner apartments recently. The event was an after-Christmas party with an exchange of gifts. Guests were Mrs. Walter Beckley, Mrs. Marie Pastor, Mrs. E. C. Flory and Mrs. Ruth Kahl. Bingo games were enjoyed. Next meeting will be held on Jan. 21 at the Legion home.

AT POWELL HOME.

Eleven members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Typographical Union met recently at the home of Mrs. Lillian Powell, Heineman boulevard. After the business session, games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Emma Fisher and Mrs. Marie Olds. At the close, luncheon was served. Next meeting will be held Feb. 3 at the home of Mrs. Lucille Wragg, 54 Sherman avenue.

WE CLUB.

Mrs. Lily Markley was elected president of the We Club at a meeting held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Anna Case, Maple place. Other officers named were Mrs. Esther Moser, vice president; Mrs. Jane Neff, secretary and Mrs. Mary Moser, treasurer. Various card games were played during the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. Markley and Mrs. Esther Moser. A two course luncheon was served at a long table decorated with winter flowers. The next meeting will be held Feb. 12 at the home of Mrs. Donna Berg, Foster street.

WILLING WORKERS.

Mrs. William Freeman of Little Washington, entertained members of the Little Washington church at her home Thursday afternoon. Following a covered dish dinner the afternoon was spent quilting. Mrs. Howard Stone was honored on her birthday anniversary. Plans were made to hold a meeting to sew for the Red Cross, the date to be announced later.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

DO IT IN THE PINCH

Making fancy plays has a great appeal to many a bridge player, but when one of them can be made in a critical spot of an important hand, it furnishes a greater thrill than ever. Some players get a sort of stage fright when they play in a championship event, but others attain their peak on such occasions. These are the ones who are entitled to call themselves real champions.

What a beautiful job was done on this deal by William Cheeks of Washington, who, together with Mrs. Cheeks, made the greatest score of any married couple in one of the sessions of the National Mixed Team of Four Championship at Richmond, Va. He took one more trick than anybody else who played the deal at 3 No Trumps.

North decided on a surprise lead and selected the diamond 8 won by the A. The club 10 was led at once by him to the K and East fired back the diamond 6 to the K. Next the club Q brought a discard of the spade 6 from North, South letting the Q win, but then using his A when the club 7 was led to the J, North discarding the diamond 3. South reckoned he could safely score his club 9, as the dummy seemed to be blocked. On this North put the heart 5, West the heart 7.

South next led the spade Q, which Mr. Cheeks won with the K. It was completely clear that North had remaining his best three spades and his best three hearts. Mr. Cheeks still had the spade A-10, the heart A-K-9 and the diamond Q. Then he led the diamond Q. North was caught in a combination of squeeze and throw-in play. If he tossed a spade, Mr. Cheeks could cash the A and throw him in with the 10 to the J, making him return a heart to the A-K-9, the J being in dummy. Instead, North tossed the heart 8. So the heart A, K and 9 won, as well as the spade A.

Tomorrow's Problem.

What would be the best bidding of this deal in rubber bridge and in match point duplicate?

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, Jan. 10.

CONFLICTING testimonies are shown among the interesting planetary configurations. While there may be augury of great activity in social, domestic, artistic and affectional relations, with good prospect of much success and happiness in these affiliations, there may be some opposition or antagonism from elders, relatives and employers. Strife, enmities, disputes, with impetuous, rash and regrettable conduct, may bring sorrow on the pleasant scene and also becloud certain promising business auguries.

Those whose birthday it is have forecast of a promising and exceptionally happy year if they will but place a check on their own tempestuous, reckless, impetuous and jealous conduct and not run counter to the wishes and kindliness of their relatives, friends and business associates. Be guided by sound initiative, quickened intuitions and sympathetic rather than sententions feelings.

A child born on this day while inherently gentle, kindly and amiable, with fine social and cultural instincts, yet may be carried to strife, enmity and recklessness by its impulsive outbursts, unless given early discipline.

CHURCH SOCIETY NAMES OFFICERS

CRESTLINE — Mabel Hoffman was elected president of the Dorcas society of Trinity Lutheran church at a meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Virgil Kreps.

Other officers elected were Addie Blocker, vice president; Mrs. Jack Beck, secretary and Dorothy Blocker, treasurer.

Contact was played during the social hour with Mrs. Carl Muntis and Mrs. C. H. Lange winning prizes.

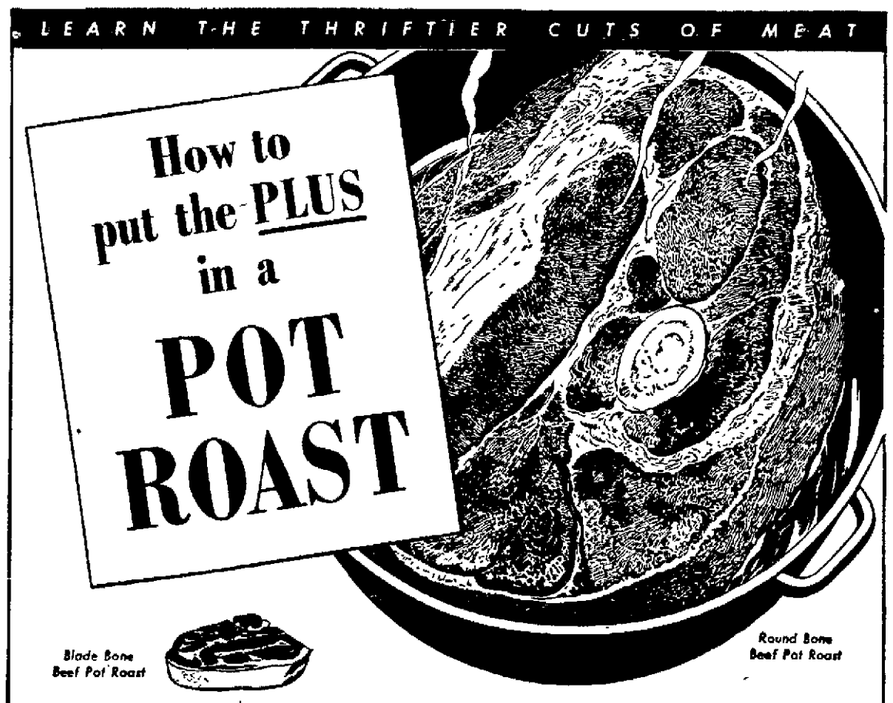
LEARN THE THRIFTIER CUTS OF MEAT

How to put the PLUS in a POT ROAST



Blade Bone Beef Pot Roast

Round Bone Beef Pot Roast

The pot roast is a thrifty meat with a powerful family appeal. For a fine pot roast, ask your meat-man for any of the beef chuck cuts—a blade pot roast (the most tender part of the chuck), a round bone pot roast, or (for very easy carving) a boned and rolled chuck pot roast.

Beef Pot Roast with Horse-Radish Gravy: Select a 3 or 4-lb. chuck pot roast. Season with salt and pepper. Brown well on all sides, adding 2 tbsps. lard to kettle, if necessary. When nicely browned, spread with a small bottle of horse-radish (drained first). Add 1 cup water, cover closely; cook at simmering temperature until tender, turning once or twice. Thicken liquid, add water for gravy (a delicious brown horse-radish sauce).

A 48-page purse-size handbook of thriftier cuts of meat—what to ask for, how to prepare them. A buying and cooking guide to more than 80 thrifty cuts. Just send 5 cents in coin to Dept. W, AMERICAN MEAT INSTITUTE, Chicago.

Meat helps build good red blood. That's because of the iron and copper it contains. All meats—even the thriftiest cuts—bring you these important minerals as well as B vitamins and complete, high quality proteins.

Your old boy-friend, dusky Snooks Jenkins of the Fremont Little Giants, who was largely responsible for bouncing the Mansfield Tygers out of the Sandusky cage tournament last spring in that memorable double-overtime battle, is still doing a flock of fancy flinging on the hardwood.

Snooks snagged 14 buckets for 28 points the other evening while the Giants were swamping Elyria 55-28, thereby equalling the sum total of Elyria's scoring.

The Fremont Messenger called the opposition the "hapless Elyria" team. And perhaps they are hapless at that. You'll recall Elyria was the first team defeated by Mansfield this season.

I hope the wolf howl that went up in Elyria over the late lamented football season doesn't extend to my old friends on the cage coaching staff, Ralph "Toughy" Bauer and big Dave Eaton.

But so happy am I that the Tygers don't play the Fremonts this season, I'm giving out with this paean of joy:

* * *

Grab the schedule, make with the look,
There are no Snooks in our hoop-book.

Old Dutch Dehnert, the Detroit Eagle coach, is quite a huge guy and still capable of doing plenty of pushing in this world. But the Dutchman knows his limits.

At the Detroit-Toledo game the other evening, I told him: "I believe we'd have had a crowd if it hadn't been for this awful weather."

"Yeah" Dutch philosophized, "but what can we do? We can't push Mother Nature around."

The sports promotion racket, depending so often on the weather for success or failure, makes a philosopher out of a guy after so many years. And Dehnert has been in it for SO MANY years.

Backers of the Mansfield Braves got to be somewhat philosophical last summer during the long rainy stretches, and our Provident Loan girls took on a large dose of that philosophical commodity the night they scheduled a double-header at the ball park, only to see clouds as black as a Jap's heart roll over the yard and keep all the customers away.

Mansfield High Plays Old Grads

Plan Post-Graduate Course For Alumni.

MANSFIELD high alumni cagers return to school tonight for a post-graduate course in the gentle art of flipping leather through the meshed hoops, the course to be conducted by Coach Vern Hoffman's Tyger hoopsters.

Which means tonight's the night of the high school-alumni basketball game, the same being scheduled for 8 o'clock. In a preliminary tilt the Tyger reserves will meet a team composed of seniors and alumni at 7 o'clock.

From the alumni camp, however, comes the word that the grads are all set to dish out the lesson to the Hoffman hoopsters. They boast an imposing list of names including Manager Noel Morgan, Ohio Wesleyan, Dave Shelley, W. & J., Red LeMunyon, Ohio university, Johnny Hallabrin, Ohio State, Jake Lyons, Ohio Wesleyan, Bob Spear, Depauw, and Bruce McGinty, Howard Pool, Gene Rudolph and Bill Herpich.

The Tygers probably will start their usual lineup of Dietzel, Shiplet, Robinson, Hahn and Winbigler, with Romano, Krupp and Altamonte as first line replacements.

Included on the squad meeting the reserves are Manager Bill Doolittle, Brandt, Keeler, Ken Rudolph, Sickmiller and Weber.

Officials will be Coach "Legs" Binkley of Fremont and Joe Atton.

Appleseed, Simpson Play

Stage Annual Battle For City Championship.

The annual cage tilt for the Mansfield junior high school cage championship will take place tonight at 7 p. m. in the Johnny Appleseed gymnasium with the Appleseed cagers matched against a veteran John Simpson aggregation.

In other games this season Appleseed has lost two games and won one while the Simpson team has lost three tilts and taken two.

Starters for Appleseed will be Bob Hall, Chuck Sauder, Murray Swihart, Gerald Zeller and Les Myers. For Simpson: Mike Zivkoff, Richard DePue, Roland Smith, Jake Gaubatz and Bill Dent.

Appleseed's cagers will hold an advantage in height in the game but Coach Robert DeHaven of Simpson claims that what his boys lose in that department they will make up in speed.

In experience the Simpson squad holds the advantage with both its forwards, Zivkoff and DePue, being veterans of last year's cage wars.

* * *

Coach Robert Fall of Appleseed said that all of his team but Swihart have had some experience, but that Swihart is playing his first season—and playing it on the first string.

Hedges Regains Top Cage Position

Hedges school regained an undisputed hold on top spot in the Elementary school cage league yesterday by drubbing Bushnell, 25-21, while both Bowman and Woodland schools lost ground.

Bowman did not play while Woodland lost to Western in an upset, 9-7. In the other game yesterday Newman school downed Prospect, 22-15.

Standings today find Hedges with seven games one and one lost followed by Bowman, six won-one lost; Woodland, 6 won-two lost; Newman, six won-two lost; Bushnell, four won and lost; Prospect, four won and lost; Western, four won and lost; Carpenter, one won-six lost; West Fifth, seven lost; and Brinkerhoff, seven lost.

Shasky Leads Way In Westie-C Loop

A note from the Colony bowling alleys this morning said:

"As smokey as the alleys as Shasky, could see well enough to knock off the highest score in the Westinghouse "C" kegling league last night with high game of 201 and high total of 537."

The note was marked "Special." It seems to cover the situation.

ASHLAND COLLEGE CAGE SQUAD RESUMES PLAY

ASHLAND—With vacation over and classes again under way the Ashland college cagers began practice Monday with the hope that they might be able to start the present year in finer style than that under which they bowed out of the past year.

The Eagles resume their hardwood campaign tonight and Saturday. They will make a two-day trip into the central and southwestern part of the state meeting Wilmington tonight and stop off in Columbus Saturday night to battle Capital.

Ten Signed In Box Meet

Mansfield Area Youths To Enter Golden Gloves.

With entries closed for the Cleveland Golden Gloves tournament Russell Gimbel, Friendly House director and area representative for the tourney, today announced names of 10 Mansfield area youths who will participate in the boxing.

Although entry lists have been officially closed, Gimbel said that he would attempt to have the names of two other youths who were trained by Paul Carbetta, last year's champ, listed in Cleveland. Whether this would be possible he did not know yet today.

* * *

The tournament will run four nights in the Cleveland Public auditorium, with two rings going during the early sessions and one the final night for the championship bouts.

Dates for tourney fights are Jan. 22, 23, 26 and 30.

All of the 10 fighters representing Mansfield at the beak busting fiesta will fight under the Friendly House colors and have been training under John Eichinger, Friendly House boxing director, who will handle the fighters at the bouts.

* * *

Both Mike and Al Sauer have been fighting during the fall with the Friendly House team, but so far Al, the heaviest of the brothers, has not had a preliminary fight.

Working a night shift in a Mansfield industrial plant, he has, however, been training day times in the settlement gym

3 Cage Clubs Win At Friendly House

In Friendly House Senior White league cage play last night Rex Billiards downed Hunts News, 41-29, Sferros Lunch beat the Boston Grocery team, 26-23, and Daley's Cafe tripped the Isaly Dairy quintet, 29,25.

High point man for the evening was Jockua of the Rex Billiards team with 17 points accumulated on eight field goals and one free throw.

Michigan, Ohio Swap Cage Tilts

Lawrence Tech Trips Otterbein, Findlay Wins.

(By Associated Press)

MICHIGAN and Ohio traded honors on the basketball floor last night, Lawrence Tech of Detroit defeating Otterbein 39 to 29, and Findlay winning from Adrian, 38 to 29.

Elsewhere in the Ohio scene Kent State spanked John Carroll, 35 to 28, in their opening Ohio conference game and Wooster trampled Ohio Wesleyan, 64 to 39.

Tech owed its victory to Guard Mike Potts, who sank five field goals after getting the range from the center of the floor. The game was played at Westerville.

Findlay and Adrian had a close battle until the last few minutes when the Ohio invaders went ahead by nine points.

By defeating Ohio Wesleyan on the loser's floor, Wooster attained its fourth win in five starts. The loss was Wesleyan's sixth in seven games. Sophomore Dale Hudson of Wooster, Marion forward, was the star with eight field goals out of 10 attempted.

Kent State led all the way although several times in the last half the visiting Clevelanders threatened to overtake them.

Tonight's schedule: Mount Union at Bowling Green, Marietta at Otterbein, Akron at Baldwin-Wallace, Ashland at Wilmington, and St. Joseph's at Toledo.

Last night's scores:

Kent State 35, John Carroll 28.
Wooster 64, Ohio Wesleyan 39.
Lawrence Tech 39, Otterbein 29.
Findlay 38, Adrian (Mich.) 29.

Studies Trip Buckeye Back

Gillom Fails Quarter's Work at Ohio State.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Horace Gillom, brilliant colored football star from Massillon, failed to pass his fall quarter scholastic work at Ohio State and has dropped out of school Football Coach Paul Brown said today.

Loss of the big athlete was a big blow to Buckeye gridiron hopes for next fall. Brown rated him as the outstanding performer on the freshman squad last fall.

Gillom, an All-Ohio high school star, headed a list of seven members from the fresh "A" squad of 40 players who have failed to return to school this quarter.

* * *

In addition, the Buckeye gridders have lost George Cheroke, sensational sophomore guard last season, who has joined the army air corps. The Shadyside boy will be a member of the air corps ground crew.

The other freshmen who did not return for the winter quarter, were Tackle Gene Henderson from Massillon; Ray Beatty, Mt. Lebanon, Pa.; Marvin Wukotich, Salem; Jim Zito, Geneva; Frank Bullard, Cleveland East, and Mike Oana, Salem. Oana quit school preparatory to an expected call into the army. The other five failed to make the scholastic grade.

Gillom, counted upon for right halfback on the Buck varsity, has been characterized by Brown as "The greatest punter I've ever seen — and the includes high school, college and professional ranks."

CASTOR ROLLS 669 IN DUCKPIN LEAGUE

W. Castor rolled a 669 total last night to lead the Merchants duckpin league at Lexington, turning in games of 255-189-225. His first game also was high for the league.

Richland County Loop Teams Play

Richland county loop cage play resumes tonight as Shiloh moves to Union, Ontario to Plymouth, Bellville to Butler and Madison to Lexington.

Shiloh has dropped both its previous games while Union has won one and lost one. Plymouth has won one game while Ontario has won one and lost one. Butler is at the top of the county ladder with two wins. On the other hand Bellville is at the bottom with no wins.

Madison has beaten Lexington in a non-league game and has won one league game while Lexington has taken both its loop games and is one rung higher in the race than the Rams.

CALIFORNIA GOLF TRAIL OPENS AT LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—California's winter golf trail opened the 1942 season today as America's greatest players started over the green acres of Hillcrest Country club in the first round of the annual Los Angeles open. Seventy-two holes of play awaited the field.

Louis Defends Crown From Baer In Garden

Champ to Turn Entire Purse From Bout Over to Naval Relief Fund

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Jacob (Buddy) Baer, having been guilty of knocking Champion Joe Louis clear out of the ring in Washington last spring, probably will pay for his sins, with interest, tonight in Madison Square Garden.

This time the towering Californian faces a perfectly conditioned, fight-keen Joe Louis, impatient to wipe out any stigma that might have been attached to his victory over Baer last May, when Buddy was disqualified for refusing to come out for the seventh round.

So impressive has the big colored boy been in his workouts that the bookmakers are offering only 1-6 odds that he is successful in the 20th defense of his world title; 1-2 that he stops Baer inside the 15 rounds. A good even bet is that Buddy doesn't wear as well as he did in Washington.

A crowd of perhaps 20,000 is expected to contribute more than $100,000 to the Naval Relief society. They are paying a top price of $30.

Louis, possibly making his final ring appearance before induction into the army, isn't getting a cent, nor is Promoter Mike Jacobs. Only Baer is taking a slight cut, for fighting is his means of making a living and he has not been in the big money.

As usual, the referee will not be named until just before the principals enter the ring. Chances are it will not be the most noted of the arbiters, Arthur Donovan, because it was Arthur who disqualified Baer in the Washington battle and incurred the terrible wrath of Buddy's manager, Ancil Hoffman.

Despite the fact that Baer propelled Louis through the ropes and onto his shoulder blades with a left hook in the first round of their previous fight, at no time did the ponderous Buddy look like a true match for the champion.

It obviously was a lucky swat that upset Joe, and once he got back on his feet he gave Buddy an awful beating. Baer was helpless, unable to defend himself at the end of the sixth round when Louis hit him a final paralyzing blow after the bell, not having heard the signal because of the uproar.

Buddy was expected to weigh in at about 245 pounds at the athletic commission today, while Louis had planned his training to bring him into the ring between 204-5, the heaviest since he became champion.

* * *

The bout—15 rounds for the world heavyweight championship.

Principals—Joe Louis, Detroit, champion; Jacob (Buddy) Baer, Sacramento, Calif., challenger.

Place—Madison Square Garden, New York.

Time—Main bout 10 p. m. EST.

Promoter—Mike Jacobs, Twentieth Century Sporting club.

Estimated attendance 20,000.

Estimated receipts $200,000.

Beneficiary—Navy Relief society to get entire promotional profits. Louis' entire end, minus training expenses, and 2½ per cent of Baer's cut. Total estimated at $100,000.

Approximate weights — Louis 204½; Baer 245.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Fans who attended The News-Journal's banquet honoring the undefeated Mansfield high school football team the other evening will be interested in this item included in the latest batch of publicity from the University of Michigan athletic department:

"ANN ARBOR—Harold (Tippy) Lockard, Michigan halfback from Canton, O., has enlisted in the army air corps and expects to be called for duty in March."

Here is the Lockard story as it developed while Ohio State Coach Paul Brown was acting as commentator for the Buckeye-Michigan football films at the banquet.

"There's Tippy Lockard," said Brown. "We used to have him in junior high school at Massillon, but he moved to Canton. When he got in the game he waved to me on the bench. He wanted me to know that he was in the ball game.

"And on the next play, watch it, there's a pass from Jack Graf to Dick Fisher in Lockard's territory. Tip was sucked in on the play, and there goes Fisher for 47 yards and our third touchdown.

* * *

"Tippy is a nice fellow," mused Brown.

And the audience roared with laughter.

"I didn't mean that the way it sounded," quickly explained the Buckeye mentor. "He really is a nice fellow."

And now Tippy Lockard has joined the air corps for another lesson in aerial maneuvers. It may be that Graf and Fisher gave him the idea that day at Ann Arbor. But it's more likely that he is a "nice fellow," and patriotic.

I regret to inform the hardy customers who braved the wintry blasts Tuesday night to see the professional cage game at the high school, that they missed the best part of the show.

That came after the ball—game—was over, dearie. When the very rotund Dutch Dehnert of New York Celtic fame, and our own very portly Whizzer White, of no uncertain fame, started showing each other a few basketball pointers.

And faked, and pivoted around each other as gracefully as two sea lions in a whirlpool. Well, anyhow, Dehnert was still graceful.

ADD NAMES TO CALL THE GAME OF BASKETBALL: When teams composed of players the size of Dehnert and White tear into action, it's balloon ball. Or, better still, blimp ball.

And now for the news of the day as contained in a communique from Athens (Ohio).

Charles Betz, 225 Atcheson street, Mansfield, and William Smart, 60 Sherman avenue, are both members of the Ohio university swimming team this winter. They're both dash men, and both juniors.

Betz, according to the word from Athens, has more than average ability, appeared in several meets last year, and is expected to develop into a consistent point-getter this winter.

That's all for the tank-men. I tank I go home now.

Appleseed Wins Game

Johnny Appleseed junior high school cagers, preparing for their match with John Simpson tomorrow, took time out last night to wallop Perrysville, 40-30, on the Appleseed court.

Chuck Sauder and Les Myers of Appleseed topped the scoring efforts each with 14 points. Sauder caged five field goals and four free throws while Myers got six field goals and two free throws.

* * *

In the reserve game Appleseed also emerged on the long end of the scoring with 33 points to Perrysville's 18.

Appleseed & Simpson Tangle

Junior High Cage Clubs Battle For City Title.

The battle of Bull Run would be pale by comparison with the Johnny Appleseed-John Simpson junior high school cage tilt slated for tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

Smarting from a shellacking they took on the gridiron and playing their first game against John Simpson under the guidance of a new coach, Charles Fall, the Johnny Appleseed players are yowling for revenge and sweet victory.

On the other hand Robert DeHaven's John Simpson cagers are just as determined to hold their superiority in the athletic world over their traditional rivals.

Comparisons of past scores usually tell absolutely nothing and in this case probably less. The two teams have only played one mutual rival: the Ontario reserves.

Simpson lost to Ontario, 25-19, while Appleseed lost, 26-22, and therefore holds a very slight edge.

In other games Simpson shaded the Madison reserves, 19-16, walloped the Union reserves, 32-17, lost to the Mansfield reserves, 24-22, and burdered Galion junior high, 26-5.

Against the Tyger reserves the Simpson team showed a well-balanced team and only lost through an inability to sink free throws, missing eight of them during the tilt while the Tygers caged theirs.

In their other games Appleseed lost to Loudonville, 18-16, and beat Perrysville, 40-30.

Physically Appleseed holds the height advantage, but DeHaven said yesterday that "what we lose to them in height we're going to make up in speed.

In experience the Simpson squad holds the advantage with both Mike Zivkoff, forward, and Richard DePue, forward, starting. Last year they both saw first string play.

Les Myers, guard, is the only Appleseed player with that kind of experience.

Starting for Appleseed will be Bob Hall and Chuck Sauder at forwards, Murray Swihart at center, Gerald Zeller and Les Myers at guards, Fall opined yesterday.

For reserve talent Appleseed will rely on Dick Haley, Louis Fava and Russ Stuckey. In reserve material Fall said he believed Simpson had the edge, but "not enough of an edge, mind you, to win."

DeHaven plans to start Zivkoff and DePue at forwards, Roland Smith at center, Jake Gaubatz and Bill Dent at guards.

For reserves he'll probably use Don Hardy and George Thomas at guards and Joe Komjenowich at forward.

Both teams, following orders from Senior high school, will use the fast break type of play and attempt to get out and "shoot that pill as often as possible."

All members of both teams have seen some playing experience this year except Murray Swihart, Appleseed center. Fall said that Swihart just reported for the squad this year and had not played last year.

In the reserve game Fall expects to start Roland Given at center, Stuckey (if he doesn't play first string ball) and Dave Weaver at forwards, and George Loesch and Ken Holmes or Fred Werner at guards.

Against these Simpson will pit Oliver Cline and Dick Buron at forwards, Dave McQuestion at center, and Elisha Flora and Don Adams at guards.

Robert Glass, Simpson reserve mentor, said yesterday that they expected to win this one handily.

"They are supposed to be starting three freshmen on their squad while we won't start any," he explained

Enrollment figures at Simpson give them this advantage.

3 Teams Win In YMCA Cage Loop

In the YMCA Big Six league last night Cornell trimmed Colgate 32-29, Harvard topped Yale, 32-20 and Dartmouth slaughtered Princeton, 73-33. High scorer for the evening was McGinty of the Princeton team with 8 field goals for 16 points.

Partial explanation for the Princeton score was the fact that the team played with but four men on its roster.

Weems Blazes Total of 716

Turns In High Game of 255 In City 'A' League.

It's a cold night in January when Jim Weems gets hot. Jim burned a groove in the Colony alleys last night as he hooked his way to a 716 total and top honors for the City "A" league.

It took Weems a little while to get hot as he warmed up with a 217 game. Then he turned on the steam for games of 255 and 244. The Commercial "B" league, where Jim is already beyond the loop limit of 185 average, started an investigation today. They want to know how he does it.

His Goebel Beer teammate, Brig Young, was right in there pitching with him at 201-246-217—664 for second high total.

Other 600 keglers were Johnny Perrine 602, Bob Bieri 645, Johnny Leppo 615, Art Hilborn 652, Art Shepherd 632, Henry McMichaels 661, Harold Selby 610, and Cliff Forsythe 616.

Weems' 255 was high game for the league.

Bissman Birdie Brands turned in high team total of 2967 and high game of 1002.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—(AP)—Two Ohioans won six-round preliminary fights here last night. Billy Murray, 137¼, Bellaire, O., outpointing Mel Williams, 139½, New York, and George Kochan, 159½, Akron, O., knocking out Steve Izzy, 157, Philadelphia, in the second.

Defense Systems Provide Chief Basketball Arguments

By CLAIR BEE
(Long Island University Coach)

NEW YORK—(AP)—Some time when you'd like to hear a good argument, stick your head into a group of basketball coaches and say:

"Zone defense."

Then duck!

Those two words can cause more hot talking among basketball men than any other pair in the English language.

* * *

Defined, the zone defense is one in which the defensive players take up positions before the defensive basket, shifting their positions to meet the advance of the ball but working more or less in set zones.

Since 1910, when the "five-man defense" was originated, the zone defense (ultimate outgrowth of the five-man) and the man-for-man defense have staged a bristling battle for superior recognition.

The zone defense seemed to have the upper hand about 20 years ago—but its popularity took a drop when offensive teams countered the massed defense by staying at the other end of the floor and refusing to move against it.

The zone came back though, after a change in the rules which made it mandatory for the offensive team to cross mid-court within 10 second after gaining possession of the ball.

Other rule developments and the increase in the use of the "screening" attack (especially hard to guard by man-for-man) has given the zone defense further impetus until now about 40 per cent of the nation's high school teams and 30 per cent of the college teams use it.

The first zone defense put three men up front, the center out a little ahead of the forwards, and two men back—called the 3-2 defense. This was ideal for quick-break teams, since it put the three attackers right up front in position to break for the basket the second the ball changed hands. From that original set-up, the zones changed to a 2-1-2 basis, with the one man assigned to the pivot.

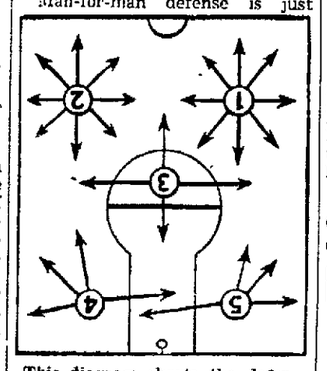
Penn State, Pitt, Yale, Creighton are a few outstanding examples of teams which have made the zone defense famous.

* * *

Man-for-man defense is just what the name implies. Each player is assigned to a particular opponent and endeavors to keep that opponent from scoring. Modern basketball makes temporary shifts necessary, because of blocking or screening, but these shifts are only temporary.



This diagram shows the defensive alignment in the 2-1-2 zone system. Arrows show the different moves made by each man, depending upon the position of the ball at the moment.

Both man-for-man and zone defense have their points—but I won't go into that.

However, if you really want to hear about the merits and faults of the two systems, just walk up to a group of coaches and mention zone defense. You'll get an earful!

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—If it means anything to you, Joe Louis will be going after his 28th consecutive victory when he fights Buddy Baer tomorrow night—and he was after his 28th when Max Schmeling knocked him out . . . on the other hand, the heavyweight title hasn't changed hands indoors since 1899, when Jeffries beat Fitzsimmons . . . take your choice of hunches . . . Joe would like to put on a title defense for the army relief fund, too, but he had to take care of some other business with the army first . . . Mrs. Jack Dempsey didn't know about Jack's effort to enlist until she heard of it on a news broadcast. Then she sent him a wire: "Whoever heard of Sergeant York?" . . . Paul Brown says he doesn't believe in winter football practice, so he won't hold any at Ohio State . . . Lew Fonseca shot about 57,000 feet of film for the American league movie and used only four per cent of it.

Marion Favored To Take Shelby

SHELBY—Shelby Whippets will be the underdogs when they meet Marion Harding's traveling team here Friday at 8 p. m., in a North Central Ohio league cage game.

The Whippets have won only one game out of four and the win was not a league contest.

The Harding team, playing away from home for all of its games because they do not have a suitable floor to play on, has won one and lost one in the league.

* * *

Both teams will be out to stay in the running for a chance at the NCO league title. Ashland and Mount Vernon, who play at Mount Vernon Friday night, are tied in the league race with no losses and two wins.

Six Exceed League Mark

Averages Top Limit For Loop Competition.

Led by big Ed Henrich with a 196 mark, six Commercial "B" league keglers are averaging over the 185 mark which is the first of the season limit for competition in the league.

Three more are right on the 185, and plenty more are threatening the mark.

Resuming its schedule tonight after a two-week vacation, the league finds four teams tied for first place. They are: Mansfield Printing, Jones Chris-Craft, Ingram-Martin, and Ringside Cafe.

* * *

Scoring honors thus far have gone to the Mansfield Rug and Linoleum with a 2854 total, pressed by Mansfield Printing with 2853, and Ringside Cafe with 2835.

Ringside has high single game of 1034, while Jones Chris-Craft has 1030 and Mansfield Rug and Linoleum 1028

Bookie Bookman has turned in high total of 674 and high game of 266. Leo Yuncker has posted a 663 total and Fritz Vogel 659. Koontz has a 256 game and Graf 255.

Team averages are: Mansfield Printing 876, Jones Chris-Craft 883, Ingram-Martin 879, Ringside 893, Kent Rummell 872, Mansfield Rug and Linoleum 889, Heilman Grocers 863, M. & M. Service 872, Yuncker Sports 856, and Hecht & Casey 819.

Money Pours In for Bout

Louis-Baer May Draw Biggest Indoor Gate.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(AP)—The biggest pile of "fresh" ever collected under one roof in the history of boxing will be heaped in the middle of Madison Square Garden's ring tomorrow night, if the iron men keep arriving on their present schedule.

This chunk of exchequer has been lured in by the heavyweight championship shindig between Joe Louis and Buddy Baer, and, since that's our way when the cause is good, by the fact that the show is for the Navy relief fund for the families of sailors at sea or those killed in action.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, who isn't taking enough out of this affair for a new packet of poinsettia seed for the Miami mansion, announced today that he is shooting at a new all-time indoor gate receipts record.

He figures he stands a good chance of getting it if the last-day rush holds up.

This would mean that the 20,000 customers expected for what is listed as a 15-rounder would chip into a jackpot to top the $201,613 "take" the night Jimmy Maloney outpointed Jack Delaney in the same soupbowl back on Feb. 18, 1927.

That's the sweetest tune the cash registers ever sang for an indoor show in the history of busting beaks.

* * *

The nicest part about this one, though—in addition to the fact that the fight games big doorprize is on the line—is that the navy fund cuts in for the sweetest piece of sugar. With Mike giving up his entire profit, Louis tossing his whole 40 per cent into the bundle in a grand gesture, and Baer giving up 2½ per cent of his 15 — in addition to risking health and safe-being against the Bomber—it wouldn't be surprising if the sailor boys' kiddies collected $100,000 or slightly more.

Tygers Battle Old Grads

Alumni Game Booked For Tomorrow Night.

ALUMNI cagers will provide tomorrow night's battle for the Mansfield High Tygers at the high school gym at 8 o'clock, while a team composed of seniors and recent alumni will take on the Tyger reserves in a preliminary tilt at 7 p. m.

* * *

Noel Morgan, managing the alumni aggregation, has put together a formidable team that should give the Tygers a real battle. However, Coach Vern Hoffman's hoopsters will have the advantage of teamwork developed through daily practice together.

The alumni team dates back to the graduating class of 1934 with Howard Pool. Then comes Bob Spear, 1935, Morgan, 1936, Johnny Hallabrin, 1938, Dave Shelley, 1939, Red LeMunyon, Gene Randolph, Bill Herpich, and Jake Lyons, 1940, and Bruce McGinty, 1941.

Coach Hoffman probably will start the same lineup that has been used in recent games with Dietzel at center, Shiplet and Robinson at guards, and Winbigler and Hahn at forwards, and with Romano, Krupp and Altamonte due to see considerable action.

The alumni includes Spear, Morgan and McGinty of the Athletic Supply team and it is likely that these three will be in the starting lineup.

Bill Doolittle, honorary captain of the high school football team, who graduates at midyear, has been getting together a team to meet the reserves.

* * *

Brandt, Keeler, Ken Rudolph, Sickmiller and Weber have been "signed up" thus far for this aggreation, in addition to Doolittle.

Coach "Legs" Binkley of Fremont high school's football team, and Joe Atton will be the officials.

SHELBY ATHLETES TO HAVE BANQUET

SHELBY—Annual athletic banquet sponsored by senior class will be held Saturday night at the high school cafeteria.

The affair will honor the cage and football teams. Athletic letters will be presented to the members of the varsity and reserve grid teams by Coach William Query.

Closed Season Set on Frogs

Few Changes Made In Fishing Regulations.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Very few changes were made in the fishing regulations for the coming year by the Ohio conservation and natural resources commission meeting yesterday, Commissioner Don Waters pointed out today.

* * *

The commission adopted with slight changes the tentative regulations which were announced following their December meeting when consideration was given to seasons, legal lengths and bag limits.

* * *

One change, however, removes the legal lengths on bluegills in both inland and Lake Erie districts. The legal length formerly had been five inches. The daily bag limit will remain at 20.

Seasons adopted for the various species were the same as last year. Open seasons established are as follows:

Black bass: large mouth, small mouth and Kentucky or spotted bass, June 16, 1942, to April 30, 1943, in the inland district, and July 1, 1942, to May 24, 1943, in the Lake Erie districts.

Trout: brook, brown and rainbow, April 15, 1942, to Sept. 15, 1942.

Since the legislature has given the division jurisdiction over turtles and frogs, the commission adopted a closed season on frogs through the state from May 1 to June 15, with the same closed season on turtles, except that the regulation on turtles applies only to streams.

Taking of all kinds of bait was prohibited from 9 p. m. to 4 a. m. The regulation covering weights on trot lines was changed, reducing the weight from 75 pounds to 50 pounds.

Barons Within One Game of 2nd Bonus

(By Associated Press)

The Cleveland Barons are within one victory today of realizing their second $1,200 bonus check, given by the management if the club is leading the western division of the American Hockey league at the end of each 14-game stretch.

By disposing of the Providence Reds last night, 4 to 1, the Barons moved to within two games of the leading Hershey Bears.

The victory, besides keeping alive their hopes of hitting the jackpot again, extended their undefeated home streak to 14 games, and put them a game and a half ahead of third place Indianapolis.

Les Cunningham notched a goal and an assist for Cleveland to move into a tie for fourth place in the close individual scoring race.

Redhair Sets Pace In Westie-A Loop

Redhair's 587 total on games of 212-189-186 was tops in the Westinghouse "A" league at Colony alleys last night.

Single game honors went to Deitrick with 240.

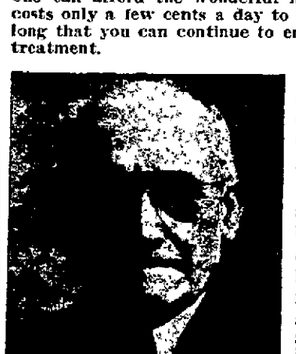
PIQUA RESIDENT LAUDS GREAT MEDICINE

"BEE BEE'S"

Says he never took anything that equalled Bee Bee's. Everyone can afford the wonderful medicine, Bee Bee's, because it costs only a few cents a day to take it, and its benefits last so long that you can continue to enjoy good health long after the treatment.



MR. A. E. CORNELL

"My main reason for starting on Bee Bee's was Prostate Gland trouble," states Mr. A. E. Cornell, 73 years old, of 204 Broadway, Piqua.

"I was troubled with pains, soreness, and catches in my back, arms and limbs. Also my ankles were very badly swollen. Bee Bee's gave me the grandest relief from burning, smarting and too frequent urination. I suffered two years with kidney, bladder and other complications. This causing me to rise several times in the nights."

Why not try this wonderful herb medicine and get relief. Start taking a bottle of Bee Bee's today.

Guest Presents Program at Meet Of Journey Club

Mrs. Philip Wolfe gave an interesting paper on "Women In Politics" at the meeting of the Journey club held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. R. H. Frey, Park avenue west. In her paper Mrs. Wolfe traced the influence of women in politics and government from the days of woman suffrage to the present time. During the business session plans were made to sew for the Red Cross during the club meetings.

Mrs. C. H. Hughes gave a report on current books and Mrs. Charles Sullens gave a talk on current musical activities. Fourteen members and one guest, Mrs. Wolfe, were in attendance for the meeting. Tea was served from a long table attractively decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums. Mrs. Neil Remy and Mrs. Wolfe presided at the table. The next meeting will be held Jan. 21 at the home of Mrs. C. V. McConnell, 795 Woodhill road.

NOW SHE SHOPS "CASH AND CARRY"

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Letters Read From Nurses In Service

Mrs. Harry Buchan had charge of the business session when the Red Cross Nurses met last evening at the home of Miss Lucille Lindsey, 38 West Arch street. Report of the nominating committee was given by the chairman, Mrs. George Fort.

Letters were read which had been received from two of the nurses to whom Christmas boxes had been sent by the group: Second Lieut. Margaret Wigton at the Navy hospital in San Diego, Calif., and Second Lieut. Madonna Viers, at Billings hospital, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Remainder of the evening was spent knitting for the Red Cross. Milo Hieber, who was scheduled to be guest speaker, was unable to be present. Tea was served by Mrs. Buchan. Time and place for the next meeting will be announced.

CHAPTER IV

Diane and Sally exchanged glances, and then the artist said, gaily, "We'll do no such thing, Linda. You mustn't miss the fun on your first night out in the big city."

"But I've nothing to wear," Linda murmured miserably. "In my excitement over coming, I didn't stop to think how important this wedding would be."

"Then leave everything to your Aunty Dinah," she was counseled. "I think I have just the medicine your case requires."

While Linda watched, puzzled, Diane opened her wardrobe door and withdrew a dress that made Linda draw her breath in sharply. It was white and shining, with a voluminous tulle skirt.

"Here," Diane thrust it into the other girl's arms. "Wear this, Linda. You're just the type."

"Oh, Diane! I couldn't think of such a thing!"

"And why not? It's too ethereal for me. I bought it one day in a fit of weakness, but I never expected to wear it, and you're just my size. Let's just say it's my present to you—a wedding present, you might call it."

"I couldn't think of accepting it like that," Linda insisted. "I'll be very glad to pay for it." Inwardly she wondered how she could ever afford such a gown, knowing as she did Diane's extravagant tastes.

"You'll do no such thing." Diane was indignant. "Stop being noble, darling, and let's see how you look dressed up."

The "dream of a dress," as Sally called it, fitted Linda perfectly, and, breathless with pleasure, the latter stared at her reflection in the mirror. The tightly fitted, strapless bodice of the gown was composed entirely of the tiny sequins that glittered with her every movement, and a ballerine skirt of misty tule over silver cloth billowed and swirled around her ankles.

"It's worth the price I paid for it," Diane said admiringly, "just to see you wearing it."

"Now sit down before the dressing-table," Sally ordered happily, "and we'll do your hair. It's far too plain for such a glamorous dress."

Seated before the mirror, her eyes tightly closed in compliance with Sally's stern demand, Linda allowed the girls to re-arrange her shining, coppery curls, to pin a fragrant gardenia atop her head. Diane touched the girl's lashes with mascara, brushed glistening eye-shadow softly over her lids. Then the two conspirators stood back in satisfaction.

"Now, you may look," Sally said.

Gingerly, Linda walked to the full-length mirror and paused, transfixed. This was the realization of her dream—a transformation from "plain" Linda Phillips to a glamorous, and exciting stranger.

"Can this be me?" she wondered, "with a flower in my hair and painted eyes?"

"I don't know what to say," she confessed aloud, "except that it must be magic. I feel like Linda Phillips I talk like Linda Phillips, but I must be someone else."

She spun around in Diane's silver slippers that were a tiny bit snug, and her laughter was merry, like the tinkle of silver bells.

"I know who I am," she cried. "My name is Cinderella, and you —" she clasped hands with Sally and Diane—"are my fairy godmothers!"

Sally laughed delightedly, and returned the eager pressure of her fingers, but Diane's face was sober, her manner grave.

"It isn't magic at all, Linda," she said. "This is the real you. The Linda Phillips of Prairievale will never exist after tonight. She'll waken to her own possibilities."

"You mean that a kiss from the handsome prince will waken her?" Linda challenged happily.

"A kiss from the handsome prince?" Diane mused. "Perhaps you're right, darling. Perhaps that's the answer, after all!"

Diane's smart apartment was filled to overflowing with noisy, laughing people — guests who munched Louise's carefully-prepared sandwiches, and sipped delicious cocktails in tall-stemmed glasses. Through the milling group walked Diane, unperturbed, with one arm around Linda and the other around Sally.

Linda had acknowledged so many introductions that her head began to swim dizzily, and she escaped at length into a corner to recover her balance. From this position she commanded a view of the entire room. She watched the colorful panorama with eager, interested eyes

This, Linda told herself, was living, and she could not refrain from comparing Kyle with these casual, well-dressed men. What would he think of her now, she wondered. She felt with certainty that Kyle Norman would not approve of his sweetheart's presence at a sophisticated cocktail party, but the thought was instantly dismissed. Regardless of whether he would censure her actions, Linda was enjoying every minute.

Perhaps a slight disturbance at the far end of the room caused her to glance in the direction of the door, but at that very moment it opened, and a young man entered the room — tall, handsome, broad-shouldered, with a shock of wavy red hair.

He said something to Louise as he handed her his hat, topcoat, something that caused the maid to chuckle, then shake her head reprovingly. For a moment he surveyed the crowded room with an expression of boredom, and then, as though drawn by sheer magnetism, his eyes fell on Linda, slim and sweet in the shining white dress, and held her attention unwaveringly while he walked across the room to her side.

THEATERS

Musical Bombshell.

"Babes on Broadway," a veritable bombshell of mirth and music starring Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland with an imposing cast, opens Saturday at the Ohio. Alexander Woollcott does a "Town Crier" bit in the prologue and the cast includes Fay Bainter, Virginia Weidler, Ray MacDonald and Richard Quine. The plot concerns the hundreds of youngsters who yearly invade Broadway hoping for a "break" on the stage. It presents life before the footlights as well as back of them and gives Mickey Rooney a chance to imitate an array of personalities ranging from Harry Lauder to Carmen Miranda. Judy Garland also takes a fling at impersonations and presents Blanche Ring and Fay Templeton, two favorites of yesterday.

Sparkling Comedy.

Being the wife of an advertising man and running a home to please his million-dollar clients isn't Claudette Colbert's idea of love-in-a-cottage in the sparkling comedy "Skylark," opening Saturday at the Madison Miss Colbert plays a modern wife who divorces her husband, when he devotes too much time to business, and then goes "skylarking" with another suitor. Ray Milland plays the husband, and Brian Aherne, the other man, in this picture based upon the successful Broadway comedy. Binnie Barnes and Walter Abel are in the cast. "Mob Town," the second feature, presents the Dead End Kids and Little Tough Guys.

Franchot Starred.

Franchot Tone and Carol Bruce are featured in "This Woman Is Mine," opening today at the Ritz Walter Brennan and John Carol are also in the cast. "West of Cimarron," with the "3 Mesquiteers," is the second attraction.

Western Episode.

"Texas," turbulent drama of of the days when honest ranchers battled renegade bands in order to get their cattle to shipping points, opens Saturday at the Park with William Holden, Claire Trevor, Glen Ford and Edgar Buchanan in the leading roles Holden and Ford portray youthful adventurers, trigger-quick when it comes to defend freedom and justice, while Buchanan portrays an early dentist who does a little pioneering in the racket game "Three Girls About Town," with Joan Blondell, Binnie Barnes, Robert Benchley and John Howard, is the co-feature.

Dramatic Story.

"Out of the Fog," the drama-charged John Garfield-Ida Lupino film, at the Majestic, tells the story of four people, a small-time telephone girl, a petty gangster, an old tailor and a short-order chef. Garfield plays the gangster who exacts "protection" money from the fisherman at a coastal resort town after the summer trade has gone. He promises adventure to a girl even though he has to do away with her father to make his word good. Thomas Mitchell and John Qualen are in the film. Buster Crabbe appears in the second picture, "Billy the Kid's Roundup."

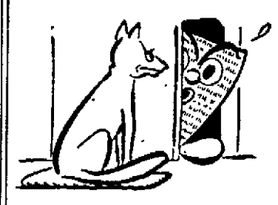
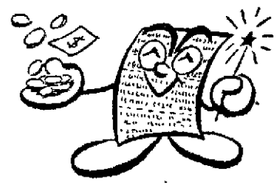
Ah! a lady in distress.
Just watch me dry her tears
"Aw fair maiden is it love?
Please tell me all your fears."

"Not lack of love, but lack of cash
That's what has me sore
I can't keep up with Mrs. Jones
With that ole wolf outside my door."





"My magic wand is 'Want Ads'
They'll sell old dust collectors
And rent your extra room for cash
They're 'money blues' ejectors."

SCHOOL'S JUST OUT- I'LL WAIT AND WALK HOME WITH ANNIE--- HM-M--BORN AND RAISED IN THIS TOWN--USED TO KNOW EVERYONE BY HIS FIRST NAME--
1-8-42
THIRTY YEARS BRING CHANGES- CHILDREN I KNEW, PARENTS NOW- MIDDLE-AGED--STRANGERS MOVED IN--HARDLY KNOW A SOUL--ALL THE KIDS ARE NEW TO ME--- HM-M--WONDER WHO ANNIE'S FRIEND IS--- OH, HELLO-- THIS IS LORETTA KNOB--
OH, I KNOW YOU, DOCTOR ZEE--- MY MAMA KNEW YOU BEFORE YOU WENT AWAY-
IS THAT SO? ER-- WHAT WAS YOUR MAMA'S NAME?
IT WAS KATIE MALT---SHE WAS A LITTLE GIRL WHEN YOU WENT AWAY-- SHE USED TO LIVE NEAR YOU---WE-- WE LIVE OVER BEYOND TH' TRACKS NOW--
KATIE MALT! SURE, I REMEMBER YOUR MAMA- SHE WAS A MIGHTY PRETTY LITTLE GIRL-

PAM—At Briggs's. By A. W. Brewerton

I MUST BE VERY, VERY CAREFUL TO WHOM I ENTRUST THIS VITAL SECRET INFORMATION! WONDER WHOM I'D BETTER ASK FOR?
1-8
REFUSING TO SUBMIT HER PRECIOUS PACKAGE TO CLERKS OR SECRETARIES, PAM IS FINALLY INFORMED:
THE PRESIDENT OF THE COMPANY, MR. WALTER BRIGGS, WILL SEE YOU HIMSELF! HIS SECRETARY WILL BE IN TO TAKE YOU TO HIS OFFICE
SHORTLY AFTER SHE IS ESCORTED INTO A HANDSOME, BUT NOT ELABORATE, OFFICE—
THANK YOU, CARTER. WON'T YOU SIT DOWN, YOUNG LADY?
NOW WE ARE ALONE, TELL ME ALL ABOUT IT- YOU SAY YOU HAVE SECRET INFORMATION FROM ENGLAND?
SO PAM TELLS OF HER STRANGE EXPERIENCE ABOARD THE PLANE, OF THE ENGLISHMAN AND HIS CHARGE TO HER
——THE LAST WORDS I HEARD HIM SAY WERE: "CHEERIO! CARRY ON!"

MANY LEADERS FAIL TO TAKE UPWARD TREND

Efforts To Revive Market Prove Successful Only In Scattered Spots.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Efforts to revive the stock market were successful in spots today but many leaders continued to exhibit slipping tendencies.

The list got off to a quiet start with small fractional price variations either way clouding the trend. The direction remained in doubt near the second hour.

Carrier loans were favored in the bond department. Commodities were uneven.

Taxes and the broadening war economy persisted as barriers for many stocks, brokers said. The Russian drive against the Nazis and British successes in Libya were offset as a speculative influence by the Japanese thrust at Singapore and the question of just how long the Philippines can hold off the invaders.

PRICE SLIPPING RESUMES TODAY IN STOCK MART

Financial Quarters Study Reports Bank Clearings Are Lower.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — The downward price shift was resumed in today's early stock market dealings.

Financial quarters studied the Dun & Bradstreet compilation showing bank clearings in 23 cities for the 5-day week ended yesterday were somewhat under the aggregate of the comparable 6-day week last year and also a shade off the preceding short Christmas week.

TRUSTEES MEET

MILLERSBURG — The Holmes County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks will meet Saturday, Jan. 10 in the agriculture hall of the Millersburg courthouse. Joe Thomas, president of the state association, will address the group.

A musical entertainment will be furnished and there will be election of officers. A social hour with refreshments will complete the evening. Lester Hoerger is president and Mrs. Adda K. Uhl is secretary.

FILES ACTION

ASHLAND — Walter Schaffer has been appointed receiver of property of G. W. Brown following suit for injunction and appointment of a receiver brought in Ashland common pleas court by Mary Davidson against Brown.

The petitioner alleges that the defendant has not carried out a contract for the purchase of the Boots and Saddle tavern at Mifflin and a temporary order has been granted restraining the defendant from disposing of fixtures and stock of goods.

BAND GETS GIFT

BUCYRUS — Receipt of a $50 gift from the Crawford Steel foundry was announced today by J. C. Hazen, director of Bucyrus High school band. The money, which will be used to purchase a defense bond, was presented to the band in appreciation for the band's appearance December. 29 at the company's flag raising ceremony.

RECEIVES AWARD

BUCYRUS — Troop 19, Boy Scouts of Bucyrus, are proud possessors of the Boy Scout statuette awarded permanently to the troop for the record attained in an attendance at the Harding pilgrimage. The troop had attended the pilgrimages for four successive years with 100 percent attendance.

CUT CITY FUNDS $51,613 UNDER 1941 EXPENSES

Finance Committee Members Make Slashes as Auditor Warns of Less Revenue.

halick and Councilman C. N. Shultz, veteran Republican; Mayor W. J. Locke, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley, Howard G. Miller, president of council; Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton and City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner.

The council finance committee pared the proposed appropriation on the advice of City Auditor Paul L. Kelley who warned that the city is certain to receive less this year from the state in gasoline tax and auto license receipts and that the city's parking meter collections probably will take a nose-dive.

The committee set up $675,513 for all city functions this year, including general and special funds, which is $52,937 more than the amount appropriated for all purposes in 1941. The departments had asked for $713,023.

This year's general fund appropriation, as approved last night, is $15,000 below the 1941 figures as set up last January. Auditor Kelley explained, however, that supplemental appropriations were made during the year as more revenue was available with the total amount for the year reaching a figure $51,613 ahead of the reduced 1942 appropriation.

The biggest slash ordered by the finance committee was in the relief fund which was reduced from $50,300 to $25,200. Members of the committee agreed on the cut because the city's relief indebtedness has been wiped out and there is a balance of $25,000 in the fund.

Kelley estimated that the parking meter revenue this year may be down as much as 20 per cent as wartime restrictions are placed on cars. The present balance in the fund plus anticipated revenue will add up to about $60,260, he said.

The auditor predicted there will be a 30 per cent reduction in the gas and auto license funds from the state as restrictions take automobiles out of use. He set the expected revenue from that source at $107,000. Kelley set the total anticipated revenue from all sources at $897,824.

The committee last night made reductions in 12 general fund items for a total of approximately $26,000 while special fund cuts amounted to an additional $11,740. Changes were ordered in four of seven special funds.

In addition to the $25,100 cut in the relief appropriation, $1,000 was taken away from the police department and the police and fire signal system, $1,500 from the fire department and $500 from the storm sewers and ditch fund.

The administration's request for the setting up of a special parking meter fund was granted but it was shaved from $34,030 to $33,590. This fund will be used to pay the salaries of the traffic squad, the parking meter collector, materials and supplies for traffic work and to pay the salaries of regular policemen who devote part of their time to traffic work.

The finance committee cut $1,000 off the requested waterworks appropriation, about $9,000 off the special street repair fund and $1,400 off the sanitary sewer fund.

Despite the cuts several of the departments showed increases over the 1941 appropriations. The garbage and water departments were given large increases, part of which are to be used to purchase two new trucks for each unit. The garbage department was granted $43,715 for 1942 which was more than $7,000 above the 1941 amount while the water department was given an increase from $118,616 in 1941 to $133,000 for the coming year.

Appropriations for 1942 general fund approved by the finance committee for the operation of the following offices and departments were:

Council, $3,050; clerk of council, $2,600; mayor, $4,985; auditor, $5,390; treasurer, $1,125; solicitor, $3,440; legal advertising, $960; municipal court, $3,450; municipal court clreks, $8,460; jury and witness fees, $50; other judicial expenses, $800; civil service commission, $600; miscellaneous, $100; fire and police signal system, $3,000; police department, $57,840; fire department, $72,535; electrical inspection, $700; relief, $25,200; workhouse, $500; humane officer, $720; public health administration, $12,268; sanitary public health, $2,520; health inspections, $6,175; public service administration, $3,490; engineering, $8,800; cutting weeds, $300; street repairing, $2,460; storm sewers, $3,000; bridges, $1,000; streams, $200; parks, $19,600; city building maintenance, $10,400; planning commission, $10; public employes retirement system, $2,600; and boxing commission, $25.

Approved for the special funds were: fire pensions, $12,070; police pensions, $11,990; public recreation, $155.72; garbage, $43,715; waterworks, $133,000; sanitary sewers and disposal plant, $47,140; parking meters, $33,590; street cleaning and traffic lighting, $12,700; special street repair fund, 5-6 gas tax, $38,400; special street repair 1-6 gas tax, $6,500; and special street repair fund, auto registration, $31,900.

The finance committee also approved the setting aside of $68,000 for the payment of bonds and $9,567.60 for interest in the city's general sinking fund.

that more applicants are needed now."

The C. P. T. program, inaugurated at Mansfield's municipal airport following a year of experimental trial by the government at several larger colleges in the country, is one of the few non-college training centers in the nation.

A total of 52 pilots have graduated from the courses during the past 18 months with 35 to 200 hours flying time. Thirty-four are now enrolled in a flight training class at the port and will graduate between Jan. 31 and April 15 with from 35 to 200 hours, enough to qualify them for positions as pilots or instructors in the service.

Another class of 35 prospective fliers was started last night at a new ground school course which opened at John Simpson Junior high school.

Following a six weeks' training period, 10 will be selected to qualify for instruction in flight training under government supervision at the port.

Meanwhile announcement was made today by James R. Harrington, Mansfield airport manager, that organization of Mansfield's civil air patrol will be completed Sunday at a meeting for fliers from nine cities at 8 p. m. in the American Legion auditorium.

Draft Tax Program to Take Fourth of Income

Nation's Three Top Taxation Officials Begin Discussion of Methods to Raise $27,000,000,000.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The three highest tax officials in the government confer today on a tax program that will require the taxpayers to hand over to the government almost one-fourth of their income.

Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., meets Chairmen Walter F. George (D., Ga.) of the senate finance committee and Robert L. Doughton (D., N.C.) of the house ways and means committee to discuss means of raising $27,000,000,000—the greatest tax load in American history.

Morgenthau, George and Doughton can make no final decisions—congress must do that—but they will lay the groundwork for the new tax bill and may decide tentatively what economic groups should share the greatest part of the war cost burden.

The $27,000,000,000 tax program envisages an increase of $9,000,000,000 over what taxpayers will pay this year. All of the increase and most of the remainder will go to finance the war effort.

George and Doughton have committed themselves against a tax policy that will "uproot the fruit trees," meaning that they will not support a program which they believe involves excessive taxation of business and industry. President Roosevelt in his budget message to congress recommended that congress consider a stiffer excess profits tax, which is a tax paid by business and industry on

NEW ZERO WAVE TO STRIKE CITY

Temperature Moderates But Weatherman Warns of More Frigid Blasts Tonight.

Richland countians poked their heads out this morning to find the weather had warmed up a little—to just above zero—but the weatherman said the mercury will go right back down below zero again tonight.

From a low of one below zero early last night the temperature began to rise slowly as snow flurries covered the ground and by noon today it had climbed to 10 above, highest reading since Tuesday. The record low of the winter was set at nine below yesterday morning.

From Now on, He Says He'll Stick To Plain Water

BRAZIL, Ind. — (INS) — Oscar Jenkins, city water works engineer, conceded today he should stick to his official role and not try to double as a fire-fighter.

He walked into a garage yesterday and found the place on fire from an overheated stove, he promptly seized a bucket and dashed its contents on the blaze.

He thought the bucket contained water. It didn't. It was gasoline, used for cleaning.

They finally got the fire out anyway, but it was a tough job.

WAR FUND GOAL GOES OVER TOP

Shelby's $6,000 Contribution Puts Over $30,000 Quota In Emergency Drive.

Richland county sent its Red Cross war emergency fund quota of $30,000 over the top by approximately $5,000 today as Shelby filled its full quota of $6,000 and Mansfield and the remainder of the county added the rest.

W. J. Spreng, chairman of the fund-raising committee, indicated that he expected the county to over-subscribe its quota by close to $8,000 after all industrial gifts are received tomorrow.

The drive which started the week Pearl Harbor was bombed, stood within $2,649 when yesterday's figures were tabulated and by nightfall had rocketed over the top as Shelby's quota came in along with the day's contributions from Mansfield and the county in general.

Gifts yesterday included $100 from the Christian Apostolic church which has contributed a total of $238.90 to the drive thus far.

Waged by the first committee to operate under the chapter's recently re-organized Disaster Preparedness and Relief program the campaign was conducted throughout the county by a small army of workers who contacted every phase of industrial, business, professional and civic life.

Hundreds of persons contributed directly to the Red Cross executive offices while firms and industries worked with campaign captains in these districts.

The war emergency fund office in the Farmers Bank building will be retained, Spreng said, until complete figures are in and all details of the drive is finished.

SHIFT STILLS TO WAR PRODUCTION

Quit Making Rye And Bourbon To Produce Ethyl Alcohol.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Six of every ten whisky stills in America were under orders today to quit making rye and bourbon and turn grain mash into ethyl alcohol for conversion into smokeless powder and other war goods.

Five years' normal supply of whisky is now in storage, so no immediate shortage is expected. The new OPM order diverts 60 per cent of the distilling industry's capacity to manufacture of 190 proof ethyl alcohol from corn or other grain.

Mayor Irked By Set-Up Of Council Committees

Locke Says 'I Never Interfere' But He Calls for Advice on Whether Action By Dem President Has to Stand.

It was authoritatively learned today that Mayor William J. Locke is dissatisfied over the set-up of council committees, appointed last Tuesday by Democratic Council President Howard G. Miller.

He conferred yesterday with William J. Beer, jr., retiring clerk of council, and City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner, seeking information on the proper legal procedure of appointing council committees, and sought to ascertain whether the law gave the council president the power to name committees as he wished.

This was learned by The News-Journal today shortly after the mayor had been asked to comment on the set-up of the council committees—appointed last Tuesday night by Miller.

(Miller gave control of only three committees to the Democrats, outnumbered 7-2 by Republicans in council, but they include the all-powerful finance committee and the important but less vital water and sewer committees. Republicans were given control of the other six—most of which involve major headaches, such as the utilities committee.)

In answer to The News-Journal's question, the mayor said, "I never interfere with council. That's the legislative body: I'm

PASSES BILL

County Approves $668,352 Appropriation Measure.

Making only one minor change in the 1942 appropriation figures set up for county departments, county commissioners today had approved a measure providing $668,532 for the operation of the county government and its divisions this year. The amount is $3,207 less than the 1941 appropriation for all departments.

The commissioners added $175 to the appropriation for agriculture, Chairman C. L. Mitchell of the board pointing out that there was an oversight in estimating that department's expenditures.

The county extension department is financed from the agriculture funds and the county fair will receive $3,800 from that source this year. The total appropriation for agriculture was $8,445.

Commissioners provided $413,775 for general fund expenditures in 1942, an increase of $696 over last year.

GUARDSMEN TO BE INSPECTED

Lieutenant Colonel To Be In Mansfield Jan. 26 For Check on State Guard.

Mansfield's Ohio State Guard unit, Co. F, organized last June, will be inspected for the first time by the federal government Jan. 26, it was announced today.

Capt. Glenn L. Bierly, commander of the company, said Lieut. Col. Herbert G. Esden will be here from Columbus to inspect the company's equipment in the morning, the records in the afternoon, and the unit itself at night.

The inspecting officer will pay special attention to the men's showing in drill and the extent of their training during the seven months the unit has been in existence.

Capt. Bierly said the earth floor at the Mansfield Armory has been completely processed to put it in better condition for infantry training and bayonet training equipment has been acquired for the men through the cooperation of the National Youth administration and the Mansfield reformatory.

Co. F has 50 men, but it can use more men to replace some who have left the city since enlisting last summer, Capt. Bierly said. Applicants may enlist any Tuesday from 7 to 9 p. m. at the Armory or contact Capt. Bierly or any officers of the unit.

MARYSVILLE — (AP) — Two men were killed early today when a coal truck crashed into the side of a moving Erie railroad freight train at Route 31 crossing nine miles north of here. Highway patrolmen identified them as Harry Kasch, 24, Latty, O., and Ben F. Carder, 34, Continental, O.

STILL CHANCE FOR PORT FUND

Airport Skipped In Requests For Appropriations; Miller Says Way Still Open.

Although not included in Mansfield's 1942 appropriations bill, Mansfield airport still has a chance of being considered for an appropriation for maintenance and development during the coming year.

Fred Miller, chairman of city council's finance committee which Wednesday night acted upon the appropriations bill for submission to council as a whole, said today that airport funds were not included in the bill because no funds were requested.

Miller said the committee would still consider airport funds provided a request is submitted. He added that "I personally believe consideration should be given an airport appropriation, but the committee can't take any action until we have something to act upon."

James R. Harrington, airport manager, was out of the city today and could not be reached to ascertain whether he planned to file an appropriation request.

Absence of a city airport committee in the city council organization was also explained today.

Council President Howard G. Miller, who appoints the council committees, said none had been appointed for the airport because he had been given the understanding by those interested in airport development that they favored selection of a council committee when the group submits a proposed improvement plan.

TIME BILL UP

House Due To Approve Plan Setting Clocks Ahead.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— A compromise appeared probable today on the controversial daylight savings time measure under which the nation's clocks would be set forward one hour by congressional decree and the president would be authorized to advance them another hour in certain regions at his discretion.

The house appears likely to approve today a bill recommended by its interstate commerce committee which would automatically set the clocks forward by law 20 days after enactment.

The senate has already approved a measure, requested by the president, granting him full authority to push the clocks up by as much as two hours throughout the country or in such regions as he might designate.

2 DIE IN CRASH

Air Corps Instructor And RAF Cadet Are Plane Victims.

MACON, Ga.—(INS)—Two fliers, one of them an army air corps instructor and the other a Royal Air Force cadet, were dead today, victims of the crash of a training plane at Cochran field, near Macon. The fliers were listed as Lieut. Dalton Hardy of Syracuse, N. Y., and RAF Cadet Kenneth N. Thomson of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Landis Moved Into OCD to Settle Row Over LaGuardia

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — James M. Landis, dean of the Harvard law school, today was named "executive" of the Office of Civilian Defense by President Roosevelt in what the White House called a "partial reorganization" of OCD.

Mayor LaGuardia

Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia will continue as director of civilian defense and will work out "broad matters of policy" in consultation with Landis.

LaGuardia also will continue his membership on all federal boards on which OCD is now represented, and will attend cabinet meetings.

Landis, who already is New England director of national defense, will, as national executive, be responsible for operational functions and personnel.

The president is reported deeply concerned over congressional and other attacks on LaGuardia for trying to administer civilian defense while retaining his position as mayor of New York City. His concern was increased when the house voted to strip LaGuardia of all power to administer a special $100,000,000 fund for civilian defense. The house gave spending authority to the war department, specifying that the money should be used to purchase gas masks, fire apparatus and other

Japs Continue To Move Troops For Major Push

Limit Air Activity to Reconnaissance Flights as They Prepare Stage for All Out Drive on Philippines And Malaya Peninsula.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The war department said today combat operations have dwindled to minor skirmishes in the Philippine battle front, with the Japanese continuing to move troops up in apparent preparation for a heavy attack.

The department's morning communique, based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m. EST, said that air activity by the Japanese yesterday was limited to reconnaissance.

The text of the communique:

"1. Philippine theater: Combat operations have dwindled to desultory skirmishes in various sections of the front. The enemy continues to move troops into the forward areas, apparently in preparation for a renewed attack in force.

"Hostile air activity yesterday was limited to reconnaissance flights.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

The outlook continued dark for the United States and British forces battling to hold the Philippines and the Malay peninsula.

In the Philippines the Japanese, pouring in a steady stream of reinforcements to multiply their numerical superiority, massed for an all-out attack against the remnants of General Douglas MacArthur's weary army northwest of Manila.

On the Malay peninsula the imperials were being forced back relentlessly by the weight of unceasing enemy drives which carried the battle flags of Nippon ever closer to the great Singapore stronghold.

Somber as the situation was, the capital found a few rays of comfort. The navy reported the sinking of four Japanese army ships. Advices from Burma credited American volunteer fliers with new successes in attacks on enemy bases in Thailand. And belated details of Wake's defense added fresh glory to the marines' laurels, as well as two more enemy ships to the toll they took before the island fell.

The submarine report was the first in many days from the long-silent underseas units of the Asiatic fleet. The navy communique last night said that one of the Japanese ships sunk was a transport, and the three others were supply ships. Each was estimated at 10,000 tons.

Much had been expected from the sizable submarine force in the Far East at the outbreak of the war. However, naval officials stressed that the dangerous missions of the submarines make prompt reports foolhardy while operations are proceeding.

In the air attacks on Japanese bases in Thailand, American volunteers who are operating with the Royal Air Force, destroyed seven or eight enemy planes on the ground, and all but one of the raiding planes got back to their base in Burma safely.

While the results of the raid were gratifying, the capital attached more importance to the fact that in one theater, at least, Japan's hitherto one-sided command of the air was being disputed.

In a stirring postscript to the already memorable defense of Wake, the navy last night disclosed that the marines had sunk a Japanese destroyer and a gunboat in addition to the cruiser, submarine and three destroyers previously claimed.

The information was based on day-by-day accounts of the siege as recorded by Majors Paul A. Putnam and Walter L. J. Bayler of the small marine air force on the island. The reports were

PENETRATE: Chinese Smash At Jap Defenses of Two Cities

(By Associated Press)

CHUNGKING—The Chinese reported today that their forces had penetrated the outer defenses of two of the most important Japanese-held cities of South China, Canton and Nanchang, capitals of Kwangtung and Kiangsi provinces.

An army communique declared that two Chinese columns had driven into the northern and northeastern suburbs of Canton in the course of an assault on the outer defenses of that million-population city that began three days ago. Fighting was still in progress.

Chinese dispatches said heavy casualties had been inflicted on the defenders of Nanchang in an attack that penetrated the outer barriers of the city.

Canton and Nanchang have been in Japanese hands since 1938.

The communique reported further heavy punishment dealt the Japanese columns retreating from their shattered attempt to take Changsha, capital of Hunan, and successes on many other fronts in central and southern China.

An encircling movement against Ichang, vital Yangtze river port above Hankow which marks the high tide of Japan's drive into China, also was reported. In a battle northeast of Ichang 200 casualties were inflicted on the Japanese.

BROKEN: Russians End Long Sieges of Leningrad, Sevastopol

(By Associated Press)

Russia's armies were declared today to have virtually broken the long-drawn sieges of Leningrad and Sevastopol, and Soviet dispatches reported that "east of Leningrad the Germans have now lost everything they have been able to capture in the past three months."

This would indicate that the invaders had been thrown back from the eastern arc of their siege ring, with defenders of the old Zarist capital once more in direct communication with the rest of Russia.

At one stage of the siege, the German high command asserted that Leningrad was "completely isolated" from the south and that the only outlet was the precarious passage across Lake Ladoga.

Advices reaching London reported that Red army storm troops now were battering the Germans in wave after wave in a sanguinary four-day-old battle at Poventsa, at the mouth of the Stalin canal.

The canal itself, a link in Russia's Baltic-to-Arctic waterways system, extends 100 miles eastward to Lake Ladoga.

In the Crimea, Red army troops who stubbornly defended Russia's great Black Sea naval base at Sevastopol for two months were reported sallying forth and crushing the Germans' own siege positions.

Dispatches from Kuibyshev, the alternate Soviet capital, said the Sevastopol garrison broke out and launched a violent offensive flown from Wake by a patrol plane on Dec. 20, two days before the defenders were overwhelmed.

Japanese bombers blasted the island for three days, the reports said, before a dozen enemy ships steamed in for a landing in force. The marine garrison waited until the flotilla was within 4,700 yards, and then opened up with a devastating fire with the island's battery of three and five-inch guns. The Japanese casualties were one light cruiser, two destroyers and one gunboat.

The reports also told of the indefatigable resourcefulness and ingenuity which kept marine planes in the air almost to the bitter end. Parts and assemblies were traded back and forth. Engines were switched from plane to plane, junked, stripped, rebuilt and all but created. Planes that were bombed on the ground yielded salvaged parts that kept others flying.

The navy communique which recited this never-say-die story also announced that President Roosevelt had cited the defense of Wake as something which had aroused the admiration of the nation and the civilized world "and will not be forgotten so long as gallantry and heroism are respected and honored."

British Commando Units Keep Busy

SINGAPORE —(INS)— Small British imperial commando units today are ranging far and wide behind the Japanese lines on the northwestern Malayan front.

Harrying and harrassing the Japanese, these skilled, hard-bitten fighters are roaming the countryside almost at will.

One of the commando units is composed entirely of Australians. The others are 75 per cent Indian and 25 per cent British. All are handpicked men, skilled in bushcraft and the ways of the jungle.

The objectives are to sabotage enemy facilities—to hamper the enemy, destroy him, kill him.

One Australian commando outfit proudly displayed an enemy staff car it had bagged. In that particular little sorties an enemy major general and his staff all were killed outright.

Tokyo Warns Russia On Neutrality

TOKYO—(By official Japanese wireless) —(INS)— A sharp new warning to Soviet Russia to adhere strictly to her neutrality pact with Japan was voiced today by the influential newspaper Hochi Shimbun.

In particular, the newspaper said, Russia must ignore "all allurements from the Anglo-American side."

"Since conclusion of the Moscow conference," Hochi said, "continued cooperation among Russia, the United States and Great Britain has become more intimate.

"There is need for more enlightenment regarding Soviet military talks with Chungking officials and of the obvious Anglo-American desire for more active participation by Russia in the war of eastern Asia . . ."

Report Ex-Columnist Held By Japs

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Joseph W. Alsop, jr., former newspaper columnist and sixth cousin of President Roosevelt who has been acting as adviser to the Chinese government, was believed today to have been taken prisoner by the Japanese.

The state department said the last information it had concerning Alsop was that he was in Hongkong on Dec. 12. A spokesman said the department has received no word regarding the approximately 1,000 Americans who were in Hongkong when the Japanese captured that British colony.

Dutch Shoot Down Japanese Bomber

BATAVIA N. E. I. —(INS)— A Japanese long range bomber was shot down by Dutch anti-aircraft batteries when three Japanese planes attempted a raid on Tarakan, important island military outpost off the coast of Dutch North Borneo, a Dutch military communique said today.

Japs Claim Sinking of Plane Carrier

TOKYO — (Official broadcast recorded by (AP)—Imperial headquarters declared today the United States Aircraft tender Langley had been sunk by Japanese submarines yesterday southwest of Johnston Island.

(The Japanese have previously made various assertions that they had sunk or damaged the Langley in what Americans have construed to be "fishing expeditions" for information.)

(The 11,050-ton Langley, which began naval service 29 years ago as a coal-carrier, was first declared from Tokyo to have been damaged Dec 8 at the Bay of Malalag in Japanese air attcks on the Philippines.

(She becme a guinea pig for experimentation on the teaming of sea and air power as an aircraft carrier in 1920 and then was relegated to the role of a tender.

(Johnston Island is in the Pacific 900 miles southwest of Honolulu.)

Hoops of Killbuck and Eldon Hoops of Shreve; a daughter, Mrs. Charles Rake of Linwood, Cal.; ten grandchildren and seven great grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Warren Close of near Millersburg.

RUSSIANS END 2 LONG SIEGES

Claim Recapture of All They Lost East of Leningrad In Last 3 Months.

when the Germans withdrew some of their siege forces to combat the Russian counter-invasion from the Kerch peninsula.

Izvestia, Soviet government newspaper, reported that the Germans had massed seven divisions —perhaps 105,000 troops—on the approaches to Sevastopol in mid-December and threatened to break through the port's defense on Dec. 27.

Marines from the Soviet Black Sea fleet drove them back, however, and the Germans were reported now facing the prospect of a complete withdrawal from the Crimea or being caught in a trap.

Sea-borne Russian troops were said to be landing at many points, east and north of Sevastopol, while the Sevastopol garrison itself drove the Germans back from the south.

Amid these sweeping triumphs, the Moscow radio this afternoon declared:

"The enemy continues to retreat in many sectors, losing a great number of men, tanks, trucks and guns.

"The initiative has been torn out of the enemy's hands. The German machine is broken."

Meanwhile, Premier Gen. Wladyslaw Sigorski of the Polish government-in-exile declared in London that the next three months would see the Germans hurled back to a defense line anchored at Smolensk, 210 miles west of Moscow, and said he had information that 12 of the 22 Panzer divisions Hitler sent into Russia had been wiped out.

Sikorski, who flew to Moscow to confer with Premier Joseph Stalin on the organization of a 100,00-strong Polish army in Russia, said that the battles of Moscow and Rostov-on-Don were the "turning point" in the campaign.

The drive appeared a part of Russia's northern offensive inare admittedly fleeing the recent cluding Karelia, where the Finns withdrawal of German troops.

The weather, disastrous for the Germans in Russia, gave them a kind of left-handed advantage in another theater of war. British said that sandstorms in Libya, following rains which impeded mechanized troop movements, had given General Erwin Rommel a chance to slip the bulk of his trapped Axis forces westward out of Agedabia.

Crack British troops were reported following them and harassing their rear guard but the implication was that too many of Rommel's Germans would live to fight another day.

equipment necessary to protect civilians against bombing raids.

The president's contemplated action probably will end the congressional controversy over LaGuardia's defense status. The senate passed a bill three weeks ago, giving the New York mayor unlimited power to purchase gas masks and other air raid equipment for distribution to the general public—the total funds to be limited only by the amounts subsequently appropriated by congress.

The house discarded this plan and displayed its animosity toward LaGuardia by voting, first, 110 to 58 on a standing ballot, and later, 187 to 168 on a record roll-call, to vest spending of a $100,000,000 defense fund in the war department. By a standing ballot, it also voted to virtually eliminate LaGuardia and his entire defense organization by turning over administration of civilian defense to a specially created assistant secretary of war. This proposal, however, was defeated finally on a record roll-call by the margin of a single vote—179 to 178.

were scheduled for this afternoon, but another cold blast is expected to hit this section of Ohio by tonight. War regulations kept the weatherman from saying when the temperature will get back to normal again.

The cold wave entered its fifth day today and the cold still extended from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic coast. Highest reading in Mansfield yesterday was seven above and the day's average was 4.5 degrees, 26 degrees below normal.

Throughout Ohio the temperature was near zero early today. Cleveland reported zero while Columbus had three above and Toledo one above.

The state welfare department said the sub-zero increased demands of the indigent for fuel and clothing and that poor relief costs for January would rise.

Elmer F. Kruse, AAA administrator, said the cold weather probably would kill chinch bugs and other insects which feed on wheat, barley and corn. He said winter wheat got a good start during the fall and would be little damaged by the low temperatures because it was covered by light snow throughout the state.

AUTO HITS POLE

ASHLAND — An automobile driven by Kenneth Kolp, Polk, R. D. 1, was damaged when it struck a utility pole on U. S. route 250 east of Ashland Thursday. Kolp told Sheriff L. D. profits greater than those made in the years 1936-39.

Under the tax program enacted last fall a 10 per cent income tax is called for in the lowest income bracket. Exempt from paying this tax are single men who earn $750 a year or less and married couples who earn $1500 a year or less.

Rep. Wesley Disney, D., Okla., a member of the ways and means committee, believed the tax bill finally approved might be something like this:

1. A three per cent sales tax.
2. A three per cent withholding tax on individual incomes.
3. Stiff increases in present individual and corporation income tax rates.
4. Reduction of the $40,000 exemptions in estate and gift taxes.
5. A requirement that husbands and wives must pool their income and file a joint return.

RE-ELECTED AS HEAD OF BOARD

John R. Kingsboro Again Named President of School Board.

SHELBY — John R. Kingsboro was re-elected as the president of the Shelby district board of education Thursday night at the annual meeting in the office of Supt. C. G. Keck.

Dr. E. D. Dowds, vice president, and Miss Cora Boyles, clerk-treasurer, were the other officials, re-elected.

One new member, Reymer Bricker of Jackson township, and two re-elected members, L. N. Hoffman and Dr. Dowds, were sworn into office at the session.

Bricker, who succeds L. A. Smith, is the first rural man ever to serve on the board.

The monthly salary ordinance totaling $4,100 was approved by the board.

INTERVENES IN STRIKE

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— John Steelman, director of the U. S. conciliation service, intervened just before last midnight's deadline to remove threat of a strike designed to tie up street cars and buses. the administrative. I have nothing to do with it."

Both Beer and Wagner admitted shortly after the mayor had made that statement, however, that he had consulted them yesterday on the exact legal right of a council president to make committee appointments.

Meanwhile there were reports current in political circles over the city that the mayor would like to displace Fred Miller, veteran Democratic Fifth ward councilman, as chairman of the important finance committee, a post he has held for at least five years, but always before under a Democrat-heavy council.

Miller admitted today that he had heard such reports, but said he didn't know of any way for anyone to upset the appointments of council president. Other members of the finance committee are Michael Mihalick, "freshman" in council and the only other Democrat besides Miller, and C. N. Shultz, veteran Republican, and also a long-time member of the finance committee.

Beer said that Locke had called him into his office yesterday afternoon and had asked him about council procedure on the appointment of committees, asking if there was legal authority for the procedure now being followed.

"I told him that ever since I had been clerk of council it had been done that way," Beer said today, "but if there is any legal authority for it, I can't find it."

Beer said he also told the mayor that he assumed council could change the committees if it wasn't satisfied with them.

Wagner said the mayor had talked to him by telephone yesterday, asking the same question he asked Beer.

Wagner said he had told the mayor it was a "moot question," and that he would "look into it."

He said he hadn't yet had time to do that.

RECORD HIGH

Richland Sales Tax Receipts $721,696 For Last Year.

Sales tax receipts in Richland county last year reached a record $721,696, more than $107,000 ahead of the 1940 receipts, the final report for the year showed today.

Collections in the county dropped sharply, however, in the final week of the year. They amounted to $16,081 during the last week of 1941 as compared with $23,887 for the corresponding week of 1940.

There was an increase in receipts last year in every county in the state and the year's collections added up to $63,732,122 in Ohio for a gain of $11,000,000 over the 1940 total.

GALION P. T. A. PLANS UNIFORM FUND CAMPAIGN

Sponsors Series of Projects To Raise Funds To Buy Band Equipment.

GALION — Planning to launch one of its biggest campaigns, that of raising funds to purchase uniforms for the Galion High school band, considerable time was spent in outlining three major projects at a meeting of the Galion City P. T. A. Council this week.

Mrs. James Angell is chairman of the campaign. Newspapers, magazines, old rubbers, copper, brass and aluminum will be collected from citizens of Galion. Contributions of these articles, council members stress, will not only promote the band uniform fund, but will aid national defense.

Second project in the campaign will be a dance and card party to be held Friday, Jan. 30, in the Junior High school building. A program will also be presented in connection with the party.

The final event will be a band concert on Thursday, Feb. 12, at the Senior High school auditorium. The band is directed by J. Wendell Byrnes.

The council meeting was presided over by Mrs. W. R. Eckstein. Representatives of the four Parent-Teacher associations of the city reported on activities at the different schools.

Mrs. Russell Smith announced that on Jan. 19, a panel discussion of "Home and School in Training of Youth;" will be held at the [illegible] school. This will be presented by Mrs. C. B. Monroe, Mrs. G. A. Berting, A. L. Catatiani and Jack Gay.

On Jan. 13, a panel discussion will be given at the East school, it was announced by Mrs. Kent Hathaway. This will be participated in by Walter Goshorn, M. A. Povenmire, Richard Patterson, Mrs. W. R. Eckstein and Rev. Weaver Keener.

At South school, a symposium will be held on Jan. 22 on "Democracy and Health." This was reported by Mrs. W. Carey.

Report of the tea held by the Senior High P. T. A. was given by Supt. Povenmire The council will hold its Founders' Day observance on Feb 16.

WOMEN'S CLUB AT GALION TO ORGANIZE RED CROSS CLASSES

GALION—The responsibility of organizing Red Cross classes, probably first aid, knitting and sewing, for women of Galion, has been assumed by the Galion Business and Professional Women's club.

The decision was made following a discussion at the monthly dinner meeting of the club Thursday night at the Church of Christ.

The group planned a benefit card party for Jan. 29 at the Masonic Temple, proceeds to be given for the Red Cross and charity.

For the evening's program Peggy Smith entertained with piano numbers and Florence Durtschi sang. The club also listened to recordings of a speech, "The Hands of the Clock Are Hurrying," given by Margaret Hickey, first vice president of the national federation.

Plans for the meeting were in charge of the emblem committee of which Donna Whiteamire is chairman, and the magazine committee headed by Luella Tracht.

BUCYRUS WOMAN TAKEN BY DEATH

BUCYRUS—Mrs. Milton Miller, 46, resident of Bucyrus for the past year, died at City hospital Thursday following a stroke suffered three days ago. She had been in ill health for a year.

Mrs. Miller was born in Lamar, Mo., and was married in 1917 to Milton W. Miller who survives. Two brothers and five sisters, all of Marthage, Mo., also survive.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the Wise funeral home. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

SOCIETY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

CRESTLINE — Mrs. C. W. Franks was elected to serve as president of the English Lutheran Aid society at a meeting held recently. Mrs. Franks formerly served as vice president and due to the resignation of Mrs Glen Caldwell as president, the former was elevated to that position. Mrs. Harold Frye was elected vice president.

Plans for the annual congregational meeting of the church on Jan. 14 were discussed.

Committees from the society will be in charge of the potluck supper which will be held in connection with the meeting.

RITES SATURDAY

ASHLAND — Private services for Mrs. Emma Myers, 79, who died Wednesday at her home here following a short illness, will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Denbow-Bear funeral home. Mrs. Edith M. CUTS BOARD TO THREE MEMBERS

Membership of Shelby Tire Rationing Body Reduced By Mayor Morris.

SHELBY — The tire rationing board in Shelby has been cut from five to three members to conform with new federal regulations passed recently, Mayor W. R. Morris disclosed today.

The board includes Relief Director Mason S. Freeman, chairman, Rev. D. B. Young and Donald Hildebrant.

It is expected the board will be sworn into office later this week so it can begin operation here early next week.

Applications for the purchase of new tires can be secured by motorists from their tire dealers, Morris said. Tires must be inspected to determine whether the motorist really needs a new tire.

Named as tire inspectors here were Howard Waldruff and Jack Love.

INSTALL OFFICERS

GALION—Mrs. Dorothy Casey was installed as president of Pi chapter, Alpha Pi Sigma sorority, at its annual meeting this week at the home of Mrs. William Goshorn. Plans were made for a meeting to be held in two weeks. Hostesses will be Mrs. Ed Buck and Mrs. Lloyd Bender.

Marriages led divorces four to one during 1941, a check of records in probate and common pleas court revealed.

Divorces numbered 96 during the year as compared to 370 marriage licenses issued.

June and August were the big months for marriages with 48 in June and 49 in August, the latter high mark due to the race to beat the pre-marital examinations.

CHURCH GROUP SEATS OFFICERS

CRESTLINE — Newly elected officers were installed at a meeting this week of the Altar society of St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Those installed were Mrs. Frank Yakubek, president; Mrs. C. J. Frye, vice president; Miss Agnes Crow, secretary and Mrs. Edmund Wagner, treasurer.

Mrs. Otto Sutter, retiring president was installing officer. Mrs. Yakubek named her committees for the year. The society will again sponsor chairman for groups into which all women of the church will participate in money raising plans.

Eight groups will operate this year with Mrs. Otto Sutter as chairman of the January group.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1942.

Cleveland, disturbed by night club orgies, is longing for return of the old-time decent saloon.

These are the mornings on which a cold shower is much improved by the addition of a little hot water.

Americans will now have a chance to show that they can adjust their "way of life" to meet the hardships of war as well as to enjoy the privileges of peace.

See Need of One-Man Direction

APPROACH is now being made to action that has been too long delayed—creation of a one-man control of armament production.

Absence of such centralized authority was one of the glaring weaknesses of the 1941 defense production program and explains much of the impotency of that year's preparedness effort.

Inclination of President Roosevelt to hold supreme authority in his own hands, while delegating limited authority to political supporters, partisan adherents and personal friends, accounts for much of the governmental ineptitude shown in connection with last year's fumbling attempt to direct industrial production into war channels.

Whatever may have been condoned under the theoretical "peace" conditions that existed in the United States prior to December 7, there can be no further tolerance, or calm acceptance, of inefficient handling of the mammoth war production schedule to which the United States of America is now pledged—with every man, woman and child called upon to make grinding sacrifices to meet tremendous costs that will run into unpredictable billions of dollars.

Now is the time that the heavily burdened president of the United States must be made to see that the actual responsibilities, which he cannot shift, are in themselves greater than any one man can be asked to bear, and that some other man—chosen on the basis of capability and experience instead of partisan consideration or personal friendship—should immediately be made supreme director of production.

Thus far the hazy and overlapping OPM and SPAB, with their divided authority, have hampered, rather than facilitated the speedy action that is now essential to national preservation and their futile experimenting has proved the need for one-man control as a first step toward "all-out" war production.

Heartening word from Washington is that congress is moving toward action to establish a supreme war production office, with one man at its head, and that President Roosevelt will be in accord with such action.

It may be hoped that this is true—and that there will be no delay in carrying it through.

Ask Free Postage for Soldiers

UNDER ruling of the postmaster general it is now possible for soldiers and sailors on duty outside of the United States to send and receive mail at domestic rates.

While this slight concession will be appreciated it does not satisfy widely expressed belief that men in military service should be accorded free mailing privilege for their letters home.

Tons of mail matter is now being handled under the congressional franking privilege, much of which could be dispensed with, and carrying the letters of soldiers, sailors and marines without postage charge would impose no great added cost.

Men in service, and in training camps, are working for small pay and it seems entirely proper that a few franked envelopes for each of them be included in their supplies.

Speaking In Terms of Billions

NO ONE can visualize a hundred billion dollars. Such a sum of money does not exist in cash. Yet that is what is to be spent in the next two years on a gigantic victory program!

The Saturday Evening Post recently told what this will mean. The most money ever raised in a single year by the government, through both taxation and borrowing, was $17,000,000,000. That is but one-third of the amount that must be raised in each of the next two years. And no one knows what new demands the future will bring.

That does not mean the job cannot be done. It can be done. But, to quote the Post, "Let us not be deceived. It will hurt. We cannot give one-half of our total income to it and keep our present standards of living. Taxes will have to be increased until the beet is white, and borrowing may have to be carried to the point of compulsory lending, as in Great Britain; but when the money that can be raised by these means is not enough—and it will not be enough—then it will be necessary for the government to command labor and materials by further means, and the test of further means will not be whether they are sound according to the rules of money, but only whether they are effective."

We are in a total war now, and everything we have must be given to winning a total victory. The job of the American people is to think straight—to understand what must happen. And the job of the American government must be to establish a war economy that will prune non-defense spending to the very limit and will do away completely with pork barrels and all the other costly techniques of politics. Not even a start has yet been made in that direction. Not a single dollar of taxpayers' money should be spent now for any non-military activity that can be eliminated or deferred!

Russians Strong In Battle

A LESSON from history, which many people did not take into account when they feared a quick victory for Nazi Germany, is that Russians have always been stubborn fighters. Frederick the Great learned that to his cost. In the Seven Years' war his "victories" over the Russians were so bloody that a few more such would have undone him. And of course there was Napoleon.

Often badly led, the Russian peasant in uniform, the veteran of many a struggle against a terrifying climate, has in all wars stuck to his ground and made his adversary pay dearly for gains.

As Clyde Moore explains it in the Ohio State Journal: "Some folks have trouble in distinguishing between Japanese and Chinese. If he sticks a knife in your back he's a Jap."

Wenatchee, Wash., has closed a thoroughfare named Easy street—possibly because of lack of qualified travelers.

"SOUP'S ON!"

See Danger In 'Emergency Power'

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

ALEXANDER HAMILTON once remarked that statesmen who begin their careers as outstanding friends of the common people show much more than an average tendency to drift later in a dictatorial direction.

That observation of Alexander's is whisperingly quoted pretty frequently in congress at present. It's done whisperingly because the whisperers are exceedingly afraid of being classified as copperheaded opponents of the granting of emergency powers to the president.

Continuing to whisper, they say they favor the emergency powers AS "emergency powers," but (and here they become almost inaudible) can they be sure that such executive powers will be relinquished by the White House tenant after the emergency is over?

Woodrow Wilson relinquished his when the time came, but he never particularly advertised himself as the "forgotten man's" champion, so Alexander's dictum didn't fit his case with any especial appropriateness. Thus the whisperers.

Benito Mussolini's mentioned, out loud, as having been a vociferously proclaimed leader of the Italian masses when he started and the guess is ventured that maybe it was in good faith that he so proclaimed himself, developing dictatorially subsequently more or less unconsciously. He's a joke now (a bad one), to be sure, but for a while he was 100 per cent absolute.

Adolf Hitler announced himself as an anti-plutocrat also, and still so calls himself. Nobody gives Adolf any credit for having had any good faith in his system. Still, he made his initial appearance as Germany's popular idol.

Kerensky Meant Well

Russia's original revolutionary leadership professed to be in behalf of about nine-tenths of czarism's oppressed subjects and I'm inclined to think it really meant well by 'em at the outset. Alexander Kerensky wasn't a bad chap, but things got away from him.

Lots of Latin American autocrats have slid in as liberators, gradually to be evolved, perhaps partly without their own volition, into despots. Porfirio Diaz was a conspicuous specimen. He was a great upbuilder of Mexico during his earlier years, but wound up as so arbitrary a ruler that his country had to rebel and chase him into exile.

Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia is a lawmaker who's expressed himself above a whisper, though he did it before we actually were in the war. What he said was that "we've menaces at home as great or greater than those abroad."

The "home menace" he was referring to was the expansion of executive authority at the national legislature's expense. Congress is jealous of the executive governmental branch; there's no mistake about it, and it's as much so now as it was before Uncle Sam became out-and-out involved in the conflict, though its utterances on the subject are more sotto voce than they were.

Not Very Vocal

President Roosevelt's third term has accentuated legislative uneasiness in the matter, but it's hesitant to admit it very vocally under the circumstances.

It certainly would boil over, the war to the contrary notwithstanding, if the next congressional elections should be called off, as has been suggested. However, I don't believe there's a chance of it.

The president isn't personally accused of a disposition to usurp power that doesn't constitutionally belong to him, but the heads of some of his executive agencies are.

Listen World!

Dawn Fights Darkness

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DAY barely breaking. Overnight, there'd been snow. Now, morning after Christmas, the eaves were dripping . . . the mist steaming in a blue froth from the warming earth . . . boiling over the old stone walls. Violets, pussy-willow buds, spring oats . . . you could smell 'em, feel them, swelling . . . pushing.

The man and I were sitting on the top rail of the corral, sizing up a bunch of calves just rounded in, needing branding—worming, maybe. For a long time we sat there, watching the pine tops turn copper, turn gold. Banging our gauntleted hands, whacking our spurred heels against the cold. Saying nothing. Feeling plenty. Feeling sunk.

The man had a hangover. Not drunk. Just that all-sunk feeling a lot of us had the day-after-Christmas . . . whether we were sitting on corral rails or behind mahogany desks. Finally the man spit. Seven feet if it was an inch.

"Hear about that fella Churchill goin' to speak this mornin'? he asked. "Speakin' from the Capitol? Tellin' us, I reckon, about the war. What's new about wars? All war's the same. Just one sunuva gun trying to git what the other fella has. Raisin' hell until he gets it."

He spat again, then climbed down to help handle a rambunctious heifer. I sat thinking. "Just another war . . . ?" Was that really all it was? Sure, wars were wars. Greed wars . . . hate, pride, revenge wars . . . Beastly businesses, all of them. But was this newly declared campaign "just another war" like all the rest? Just another greedy, grabby mess? I wondered, hoping. Hoping some reassurance would come out of the dawning. But it didn't. The calves bawled. My throat, too, knotted in misery. There was no promise in that blurred dawn.

Then, from the ranch house, the air stirred . . . lifted. The kids were trying out the new phonograph. Trying out jazz . . . sweet 'n' hot . . . blue . . . spirituals . . . anything that came to hand.

"So You're the One" . . . "I Don't Want to Set the World On Fire" . . . "You and I" . . .

Jazz! Youthful, jitterbug joy. Up in the hill, full-throated, came the call of Youth. Dawn! Down the hill, in a flooding golden tide, poured the call of Romance.

And then . . . Old! Old as the dreams that have drawn us out of the jungle, up and onto the hill . . . old as human hope and pride and fighting faith . . . came the song that, for long, has led so many of us from doubt to daring, through darkness to the dawn:

"ONWARD CHRISTIAN SOLDIERS!
"MARCHING AS TO WAR,
"WITH THE CROSS OF JESUS
"GOING ON BEFORE!"

Old? Yes, but ever new! There was the answer! This wasn't just another war." This was a different, a special, a glorious war! These millions of boys, linked in a battling bond around the world . . . and we, their oldsters, bound in a chafing chain of duty at home. It might have been many a year since we'd said our evening prayers at our mothers' knees . . . or gone to church . . . or groped toward God. But now, when the challenge had come at last, WE WERE READY!

We aren't simply another nation, fighting the same old selfish fight. We are Dawn fighting Darkness. We are Hope fighting Hate.

WE ARE GOD'S CHILDREN, FIGHTING HIS CAUSE, REGARDLESS OF CHURCH OR CREED!

DO NOT FORGET THAT, WHETHER YOU BEND OVER A SINK OR OVER A BAYONET: YOU ARE HIS CHILDREN . . . BY YOUR EFFORT HIS PLAN WILL LIVE OR DIE!

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Headless War Supplies Machine Recognized as Serious Weak Spot

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Behind the scenes, the big question churning official Washington is when and what the president intends to do about the most pressing war problems facing the country—reorganization of his bumbling and headless war supplies machine.

There is no doubt he is most emphatically aware of the problem. His own inner circle advisers have been pulling their hair about it for months. Also, visiting British leaders tactfully but pointedly told him about it. Further, he himself has voiced privately his sharp disappointment over production schedules, and last week he publicly announced that there must be a tremendous increase in both the rate and volume of output to win the war.

Yet, despite all this, the president still has not made a concrete move to clean up the soggy administrative muddle.

He has been talking about doing so. Only as recently as a week ago, he assured an old friend, who has long urged a drastic reorganization, that it was coming. But the inside word still is that the president has not yet made up his mind.

Meanwhile, as the flames of war daily spread further and more fiercely, the vital production machinery of the government bumps erratically along in a welter of confusion and Dollar-A-Year men.

* * *

Minister of Supply.

There is a wide variance of view in the inner councils over the form of the reorganization should take.

The procurement chiefs of the army and navy, strongly supported by Bernard Baruch, wise old head of the World War I Industries board, are urging that control over supplies be turned over to them, with OPM and the other civilian agencies functioning as subordinate auxiliaries.

But cabinet and inner circle sentiment is strongly against this, on two counts: 1st, that supply is an industrial and hence a civilian problem to be handled by civilians; 2nd, that the function of the army and navy is to fight and they have plenty of that to do without taking up war production.

Non-military advisers want the president to set up a ministry of supply headed by a single executive, like Lord Beaverbrook, whose job would be to see to it that the army and navy got all the arms and munitions they need, and when they need them.

Roosevelt has been toying with this plan for months. As far back as last spring, when the old National Defense Commission obviously had bogged down and something had to be done about it, the president got as close to adopting the plan as considering whether to name Supreme Court Justice William Douglas or Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson as supply boss.

But in the end the president backed away. Instead he set up a new board, SPAB; on top of OPM. Made up of top-flight officials already overburdened with responsibilities, SPAB has accomplished little, if anything.

Note: One thing SPAB has done, and one of the principal reasons for its creation, has been to salve the personal feelings of William Knudsen, whose OPM has been one of the big flops of the production program. The former auto executive is sincere, well-intentioned and ardently patriotic, but he just hasn't the punch and capacity to run a job of this magnitude. Knudsen's genius is plant management and that's what he should be doing for the government. He should be in the field showing plants how they can double and triple their output.

Aspirants.

IF and when the president finally does get around to centralizing control of production in a single executive, three names top the list of possibilities. They are—

Justice Douglas, in his early 40's, brilliant, tough-minded and driving. Douglas is the candidate both of the inner circle and of potent leaders in Capitol Hill.

Secretary Henry Morgenthau, who is itching to take hold of the production muddle and straighten it out.

Milo Perkins, brilliant former business man who made a great success as head of the Surplus Marketing Administration and now is executive director of the Economic Warfare Board. Perkins is the candidate of Vice President Wallace, who heads the EWB.

But no matter who is chosen, it will be a happier day for our war effort when the problem of war supplies is straightened out.

* * *

Louisiana Senator.

SENATOR ALLEN J. ELLENDER was driving his car in the streets of Washington one night when a Negro policeman rushed out in front of his car, ordered him to stop, get out, and abandon his car.

"What's all the shootin' for?" said Ellender.

"It's an air raid drill," said the officer.

Now Ellender comes from Louisiana, where he is not accustomed to taking orders from colored policemen, but he obeyed.

"You'll have to get under cover," said the officer.

Ellender followed directions, and found himself in a Negro apartment house.

Good Soldier.

SCENE 1. Office of Representative Guy L. Moser of Pennsylvania. Moser is phoning the office of General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, hotly protesting about being stopped by a soldier sentry on Capitol Hill the previous night.

Representative Moser: "The officer of the day issued an order against anyone entering the house office building after 6 p. m. I know we're at war, but I'm a member of congress and have a right to go to my own office any time I blankety-blank please, day or night. The next time a sentry tries to stop me, he'll have to use force.."

An aide to Marshall: "The officer of the day must have got his wires crossed, Mr. Congressman. We have no intention of keeping members from their offices. I'm very sorry. It won't happen again."

Scene 2. An hour later in a Capitol Hill cigar store. Moser is making a purchase when someone taps him on the arm. He turns beholds the sentry who stopped him the night before.

Moser: "Well, well; Good morning, young man. My feelings toward you have altered considerably since I talked to General Marshall's office. That crazy order won't be issued again."

Soldier: "Thank you, sir."

Moser: "What are you thanking me for—that bawling out I gave you last night?"

Soldier: "Oh, no, sir. I want to thank you for getting me a holiday. They gave me a day off as a reward for my diligence in keeping you out of the house office building last night. The first rule in the army is to obey orders, sir."

NEW YORK—Bottom of the barrel:

Norman Weiser found that things happen fast when you join the army. Before submitting himself to Uncle Sam he hurried to a hospital for a private checkup. Just as the stethoscope was applied a doctor shoved his head through the door and shouted, "Got a pint of blood? We've got an emergency." Two winks later Weiser, now wiser, was on the table—giving.

THE legitimate theater, and I hate to see this, is going in for commercial plugs. More and more are the names of cigarets, cold drinks, and household necessities mentioned. They appear to be mentioned casually, yet I understand remuneration frequently is made in these instances.

Mothers! does you child skip school sometimes? Then pay attention to what THIS mother did. When Mrs. Laura Baker received a card from the local board informing her that her daughter was absent from class on the day before, she merely handed it to the erring daughter, who promptly penned this excuse. "Too many cocktails the night before." The daughter is 20, and is switchboard operator for Billy Rose.

A Farmer's Diary

No Pension!

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

AT THE corner of our village street two men met. The younger was a blue-eyed, well dressed complacent looking chap who had alighted from a coupe near the corner. The other was an old man, tall and stooped, with white locks showing below an old ear-tabbed cap. I sat in my own car and overheard their conversation.

"You still work where you did?" the old man asked.

"No—I got laid off several weeks ago.

"Couldn't you get another job? There's plenty of farms need fellows like you—or you could join the army."

"My wife doesn't want me to work on a farm—she's not real well. Anyway, I'll get compensation for awhile yet, and by managing right we can get along on that. I'm taking a vacation. Next spring, if things work out, I may have two to support—and then things will be running full blast, and I'll get on again. What are you doin' granpap? You get a pension, don't you?"

The old man straightened up and I saw him raise a trembling hand to emphasize his point. "NO—I don't take it. I've got a place to live and take care of some sheep for my rent. It ain't much of a place—I don't ride in any automobile—but just makin' a livin' ain't hard, with a garden and a few hens. I allus reckoned a pension was for them that was hurt or had bad luck. My five children didn't get much from me except maybe how to work—but they've all got jobs and if they get laid off they rush around and get into somethin' else."

The other laughed. "You take life too serious, granpap! I live in a different age from you—A man only lives once. Why not enjoy yourself as you go along? If I live to be your age, I can get a pension if I need it. This country won't let anybody starve — it wouldn't be humane."

The old man stared at him without a word. Then he shook his head a bit sadly. "Remember this, boy—it'll dawn on you some day that I was right . . . you won't understand it now. There's a kind of honorable feelin' about givin' more'n you get that's the best kind of enjoyment that ever was. Why—every time I go over these good roads, or see our flag aflyin' or an airplane in the sky I can't help but feel I owe a debt I can never pay. I fathered a bunch o' workers, anyhow—and I don't want no pension!"

GET READY FOR CANTON COURSE

Mansfield Applicants For Paid Defense Training To Be Sent Soon.

Openings in a paid training school conducted by the Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing company in Canton for those Mansfielders who passed a mechanical aptitude examination last week were announced today by C. W. Handley, manager of the Ohio State Employment Service office in Mansfield.

Calling first those who received the highest grades on the test, Handley said he plans to send five Mansfield area youths to the school a week until all of the 43 who passed will have been sent.

On compl tion of work in the training school the youths will start work in a naval ordnance plant operated by Westinghouse in Canton.

Handley also said yesterday that in line with federal orders the employment office was requesting all unemployed persons to report to the office at least once every 30 days instead of once in 60 days as in the past.

This move has been undertaken, he said, so that a more timely record may be kept on office cards showing workers available for various positions.

Especially urged to register were all Mansfielders with training in organic chemistry. OPM officials in Washington have issued a nationwide call for 600 trained men available for work analyzing oils and acids as part of the national defense effort.

Chemists with not less than two years college training or its equivilent between the ages of 21 and 45 may apply for the positions. If accepted, they will receive between $140 and $160 while in training and more when put on government payrolls.

Kiwanians Honor Member With Long Attendance Record

The Mansfield Kiwanis club installed new officers and honored J. H. Klasener for his record of 17 years without missing a meeting at the club's Juncheon session yesterday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Charles W. Fuchs, new head of the club, received the president's button from Ira L. Bronson, the retiring president. Bronson then received the past president's button from W. B. Ford, a former head of the club, and a completely-equipped picnic case as a gift from the club.

Other officers installed during the ceremonies were W. S. Ross and N. L. White, vice presidents, and Carlton S. Fernyak, secretary. H. H. Schettler was appointed program chairman for the year by the rew president.

The club gave Glasener tabs to wear with his Kiwanis button in recognition of his attendance record, believed one of the best in Kiwanis International.

Reports of the club's activities during 1941 were presented by Bronson, president last year, and Carlton Fernyak, secretary of the organization.

PLAN TESTS AT ST. PETER'S

Final examinations for the present semester will be held for pupils at St. Peter's parochial schools on Jan. 27, 28, and 29, it was announced today.

Standardized tests made up by the Toledo diocesan school board for Roman Catholic grade schools of the diocese will arrive in Mansfield from the diocesan headquarters on Jan. 23.

With the exception of the examination in religion, given by the priests, the individual teachers will make up the high school exams. One-half credit per year in religion is included in the requirement of 18 high school credits necessary for admission to Catholic colleges.

The age group 15 to 19 years now contains more persons than any other 5-year age period, according to 1940 census figures.

INVITES CLUB TO FESTIVITIES

Mansfield Kiwanians were invited today to attend the inauguration of Clyde Hissong, dean of the college of education at Bowling Green State university, as governor of Ohio Kiwanis at a banquet and dance to be held there Jan. 15.

Dean Hissong, formerly a lieutenant governor in the organization, succeeds G. Truman Lambert as governor of Ohio Kiwanis.

After the inaugural banquet, the Bowling Green club, one of the 124 Kiwanis units in Ohio, will hold a dance for Kiwanis and wives.

SIX CASES ON WEEK'S COMMON PLEAS DOCKET

January Term of Court To Open Monday With Petit Jury Reporting.

When the new January term petit jury convenes Monday morning for its first session it will have six cases on the docket for trial during the week.

A contested will case is scheduled for hearing Monday morning. Four of the six cases involve judgment actions. The other suit seeks to determine the identity of the father of an illegitimate child.

The first case concerns an action to set aside the will of the late Ella Glasgow who died in September, 1940. The action was brought by John M. Glasgow against Minnie C. Smith and others. Attys. Beam and Beam will represent the plaintiff and Attys. John F. Kramer and William F. Black are defense counsel.

Other cases on the week's calendar are:

Monday—Natale Chilliemi vs. George Reichert, doing business as the Service Taxi company. The petition asks $10,877 damages for injuries received by the plaintiff in a traffic accident in June, 1940, on the Ashland hill. Atty. George W. Biddle for plaintiff.

Tuesday—Mary S. Mabee vs. Indian Refining company. For $3,500 damages for the alleged failure of the defendant to carry out the provisions of a lease for a filling station property on Bowman street in Mansfield and resulting damage to the property. Attys. George W. Coble and A. B. Mabee for plaintiff and Henkel and Gongwer for the defendant.

Mrs. Anna B. Winters and others vs. Herman R. Wolf and others. For $372 judgment, representing amount alleged due under a contract. Atty. Arthur Negin for plaintiffs and Beam and Beam for defendants.

Wednesday—State of Ohio, ex rel. Cora Mitchell vs. Robert Pence. Action involving questioned parentage of a child. Atty. G. W. Marriott for plaintiff and H. L. Weaver and Paul W. Vale for defendant.

Jack Doyle vs. Clifton C. Laser and others. For $138 damage judgment resulting from defendants' alleged failure to yield a Mansfield property to the plaintiff. Atty. G. W. Marriott for plaintiff and Beam and Beam for defendants.

WAR CUTS IN ON MANSFIELD TOURIST TRAVEL TO SOUTH

Mansfielders' annual trek to Florida and other sunny climes has been cut almost in half this year due to the reverberations of the war.

Jack Berger, assistant secretary of the Richland County Auto club said today: "Usually we route about 50 people to Florida during the last week in December and the first week in January, but this year so far, we've only routed about a dozen to Florida and two to Mexico."

"We haven't routed anyone to California since the war began, but several persons asked help in driving to the various army camps just before the holidays."

"According to word received from those who have gone south for the winter, hotel and autocourt keepers are feeling the pinch of a shrinking tourist trade due to the war," Berger said.

He said that returned tourists had told him that $7 and $8 accommodations in swanky southern hotels were going begging for as little as $1 and $1.50 per day in certain beach towns.

TALK TO MAYOR

CIO Council Wants Place on Rationing Boards.

A place for labor representation on Mansfield tire rationing boards—and other defense rationing boards in the future—will be asked of Mayor W. J. Locke by members of the Richland county Industrial unions council (CIO), Sid Earhart, president of the Westinghouse union and council member, said today.

Earhart said the council had appointed a committee Wednesday to contact the mayor and determine why he had failed to give labor organizations any representation.

"We're all in this thing together," he continued, "and I fail to see why labor is any less qualified to sit on these boards than representatives of any other group or organization."

PARENTS OF SON

NEW LONDON—Announcements have just been received of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Irwin Glass, of St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 31. Mrs. Glass is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnson.

LETTER ARRIVES LATE

CANSO, N. B. — (CP) — After fighting through the Boer war Harry Hawes of Canso started for home with a kit bag containing a letter from his brother Almon. Somehow the bag became lost. The other day the postman delivered the letter lost almost 41 years ago. It was enclosed with another letter from a man in Waterville, N. B.

Warning to Mothers:
WORMS CAN CAUSE TROUBLE

Learn the truth! Anybody, anywhere, can have roundworms. And they can cause great distress inside your child without your ever knowing what is wrong.

Many pale, nervous, underweight children have bowel worms. Other innocent-looking warning signs are uneasy stomach, fidgeting, itchy seat, nose-picking.

Don't take chances with roundworms! Get Jayne's Vermifuge today! It is America's best known proprietary worm medicine—used by millions, for over a century. Jayne's expels stubborn roundworms, yet acts gently. If there are no worms, it works just as a mild laxative. Insist on Jayne's Vermifuge.
